Human Insecurities in Southeast Asia Paul J. Carnegie, Victor T. King, Zawawi Ibrahim, 2016-08-30 This book is a collection of work by scholars currently pursuing research on human security and insecurities in Southeast Asia It deals with a set of insecurities that is not readily understood or measurable As such it conceptually locates the threats and impediments to human security within relationships of risk uncertainty safety and trust At the same time it presents a wide variety of investigations and approaches from both localized and regional perspectives By focusing on the human and relational dimensions of insecurities in Southeast Asia it highlights the ways in which vulnerable and precarious circumstances human insecurities are part of daily life for large numbers of people in Southeast Asia and are mainly beyond their immediate control Many of the situations people experience in Southeast Asia represent the real outcomes of a range of largely unacknowledged socio cultural economic transformations interlinked by local national regional and global forces factors and interests Woven from experience and observations of life at various sites in Southeast Asia the contributions in this volume give an internal and critical perspective to a complex and manifold issue They draw attention to a variety of the less than obvious threats to human security and show how perplexing those threats can be All of which underscores the significance of multidisciplinary approaches in rethinking and responding to the complex array of conditioning factors and interests underlying human insecurities in Southeast Asia

Climate Change and the Role of Education Walter Leal Filho, Sarah L. Hemstock, 2019-11-28 This book offers insights into the educational dimensions of climate change and promotes measures to improve education in this context It is widely believed that education can play a key role in finding global solutions to many problems related to climate change Indeed education as a process not only helps young people to better understand and address the impact of global warming but also fosters better attitudes and behaviours to aid efforts towards mitigating climate change and adapting to a changing environment But despite the central importance of education in relation to climate change there is a paucity of publications on this theme Against this background the book focuses on the educational aspects of climate change and showcases examples of research projects and other initiatives aimed at educating various audiences It also provides a platform for reflections on the role education can play in fostering awareness on a changing climate Presenting a wide range of valuable lessons learned which can be adapted and replicated elsewhere the book appeals to educators and practitioners alike Regulatory Toxicology in the European Union Tim Marrs, Kevin Woodward, 2018-02-21 Consumer and environmental protection depend on the careful regulation of all classes of chemicals Toxicology is the key science used to evaluate safety and so underpins regulatory decisions on chemicals With the growing body of EU legislation involved in chemical regulation there is a concomitant need to understand the toxicological principles underlying safety assessments Regulatory Toxicology in the European Union is the first book to cover regulatory toxicology specifically in Europe It addresses the need for a wider understanding of the principles of regulatory toxicology and their application and presents the relationship between toxicology and legislative processes in regulating chemical commodities across Europe This title has a broad scope covering historical and current chemical regulation in Europe the role of European agencies and institutions and also the use of toxicology data for important classes of chemicals including human and veterinary medicines animal feed and food additives biocides pesticides and nanomaterials This book is therefore extremely pertinent and timely in the toxicology field at present This book is an essential reference for regulatory authorities industrialists academics undergraduates and postgraduates working within safety and hazards toxicology the biological sciences and the medicinal and pharmaceutical sciences across the European Union Vitagenes in avian biology and poultry health Peter Surai, 2023-08-14 Commercial poultry production is associated with various types of stress leading to decrease of productive and reproductive performance and compromised health of growing chickens parent birds as well as commercial layers Stress adaptation is associated with various signaling pathways and is executed at the gene level The term vitagenes refers to a group of redox sensitive genes that are involved in stress sensing and preserving cellular adaptive homeostasis The vitagene family includes heat shock proteins superoxide dismutase glutathione and thioredoxin systems and sirtuins The vitagenes are key players in redox signaling and redox homeostasis maintenance in birds including poultry under commercial stress conditions of egg and meat production Development of the vitagene concept become an important milestone in understanding molecular mechanisms of adaptation to stress The goal of this book is to provide up to date information about the roles of vitagenes in avian biology and poultry health Special emphasis is put on the role of vitagenes as an essential part of the redox homeostasis maintenance stress adaptation and development of adaptive homeostasis The book provides data to indicate that nutritional modulation of vitagenes is a new direction in nutritional sciences Practical results of the successful usage of the vitagene concept in poultry production are also presented This book is intended to be of practical importance to avian animal scientists poultry producers to nutritionists and vets students of biological and agricultural colleges and universities It can also be interesting for researchers in areas related to physiology biochemistry nutrition ecology environmental sciences evolutionary biology etc Conceptualizing Plant-Based Nutrition Ramesh S.
