

CRANE NOMENCLATURE

OPERATING PROCEDURES

EQUIPMENT FAMILIARIZATION

All members of the crew should become thoroughly familiar with the location and operation of controls, the correct operating procedure, the interlocking capabilities and the safety procedures applicable to the unit prior to operating. This crane is a complex piece of equipment and can be overloaded in many ways. Carefully follow the operating procedures outlined below and in the instructional pages of the load rating chart in the operator's station.

EQUIPMENT CHECKS

Perform the following check prior to placing the unit in operation:

- Inspect for any physical conditions such as leaks of hydraulic fluid or loosening of under the chain pins, any outgauge which may have crept down or up and any signs of damage or improper maintenance.
- Check that the lines are attached to the proper anchors.
- Check the level of the hydraulic reservoir.
- Check the operation of the "load" and boom controls.
- Check for missing and loose bolts.
- Check for damaged structural members and welds.
- Check all rope guides and cable keepers.
- Check all chains for free turning.
- Check the warning system for safety, broken chains or other damage in accordance with instructions in the "Construction & Maintenance" section.
- Check to see that the hydraulic hoses and fittings are in good condition and show no signs of leaking. The hoses should be free from cuts and abrasions and there should be no evidence of swelling. Any damage or leakage should be repaired immediately.
- Check optional LRA and anti-two-block system or LRA and anti-two-block system for proper operation.

Note: Consult truck manufacturer's manual for vehicle checks.

Pre-Operation Inspection and Calibration Verifications

- Check the electrical wiring connecting the various parts of the system to prevent damage.
- Check the anti-two-block switches and weights for free movement.

⚠ DANGER

The following must be performed with care to prevent damage to the machine or injury to personnel. Proper functioning of the system requires successful completion of these tests before operating the machine.

If the operator cannot see the load handling device approaching the boom area, he/she has an auxiliary signal person watch the load handling device. The operator must be prepared to stop the machine immediately should the LRA or optional LRA system not function properly. If the LRA or optional LRA system is not functioning properly, stop the anti-two-block weight and not attempt the test warning light or the audible alarm (optional for the LRA system), and not to test the crane movements load up, telescopic out, and boom down.

Check the anti-two-block alarm light and the audible alarm by performing one of the following tests:

- Manually lift the weight attached to the anti-two-block switches. When the weight is lifted, the audible alarm for the LRA or optional audible alarm for the optional LRA system should sound and the anti-two-block alarm light should light.
- Slowly raise the main boom load handling device to create a potential two-block condition. When the load handling device lifts the weight, the audible alarm should sound, the anti-two-block alarm light should light and the status of the load handling device should be stopped. Lower the load handling device slightly to eliminate the condition.
- Slowly extend (telescopic) the boom to create a potential two-block condition. When the load handling device lifts the weight, the audible alarm should sound, the anti-two-block alarm light should light and the boom telescopic out function should be stopped. Lower the load handling device slightly to eliminate the condition.

⚠ CAUTION

If the light and audible alarm do not function as described and the crane movements are not stopped, the system is not working properly. The malfunction should be corrected before operating the crane.

- If the crane is equipped with a boom extension that is deployed and retracted to work, review the test procedure for the boom extension and anti-two-block switch.
