Across Antarctica

For many people, an adventure is something quite simple, like going to another country for an annual holiday and experiencing a different culture and unfamiliar scenery and climate. However, for others, an adventure has an altogether different meaning. For three young men in 2009, it meant a journey of 430 miles across some of the most hostile place on our planet, Antarctica, in a race to the South Pole. They were competing with a team from Norway to do the journey in the fastest time. However, unlike the Norwegians, who were professional skiers and familiar with the conditions, the British team were amateurs. For them it was a real adventure, and one that they only just survived!

For Ben Fogle, a TV presenter who loves a challenge, and James Cracknell, an Olympic rowing champion, it was not their first crazy journey! A few years before this, they had rowed across the Atlantic in a seven-metre rowing boat in another race. During that journey, the pair had to deal with a range of problems. This included heat exhaustion, lack of sleep and hurricane-type weather, and nearly drowning when their boat was turned upside down by huge waves. Amazingly, they decided to get together again for another difficult challenge – the race to the South Pole. This time they were joined by another amateur, doctor Ed Coats. This adventure was even more dangerous because Ben had just recovered from a very serious medical condition he had caught while he was filming in the jungle for a TV programme.

In spite of all his problems, Ben recovered in time and, with the other two, spent months training for the task ahead. This journey proved to be even more difficult than the rowing race. Every day they had to cover over 25 miles in freezing conditions. They only allowed themselves four hours sleep a night and before they could rest they had to spend four hours melting ice to provide enough water for them all to drink. They finished the race completely exhausted, with no food left and with their hands and feet suffering from the icy temperatures. All three had lost a lot of weight and were in severe pain. Even worse, they did not beat the Norwegians!
