Marching Orders C.R. Hopkins, 2017-04-11 Clive Hopkins's parents were Salvation Army Officers which meant their sons had to endure six hours of religious meetings every Sunday and no football most kinds of pleasure including girls were off limits and friendships were disrupted by frequent moves to new postings When finally at the age of 14 Clive was coerced into becoming a Soldier himself it was a step too far and like his older brother he rebelled and became a backslider He has now written this entertaining and moving memoir of a youth spent trying to balance the desire to enjoy a normal boyhood with the demands of his parents calling In his story Clive captures evocatively a lost world and finally resolves a family mystery The Social Survey of Merseyside University of Liverpool, 1934 The Schoolmasters' Yearbook & Educational Directory, 1915

Child of the Thirties Sheila Brook, 2011-06-14 This book is a must for everyone who lived through the pre war and war years I found it so fascinating and accurate in every detail and had great difficulty in putting it down even to eat Those of us who grew up with loving parents and siblings will realise how lucky we were not to experience the lonely little girl Sheila must have been at times and how important friends were to her I was one of those friends and feature in the school photo in the book and even though we lost touch in our busy middle years I feel so proud that Sheila has written this poignant story of her early life Whether you know her or not I defy anyone not to be touched by it Mrs Joan Buckland Sheila's book is a moving account and a powerful piece of social history It should act as a reminder of mental health care in the past and the impact that mental ill health can have on friends and family Paul Farmer Chief Executive MIND Description About the Author Sheila Brook was born in 1931 and spent long periods living in other people's homes occurred during the first eight years of her life owing to her mother's recurrent episodes of mental illness Shortly before the outbreak of the Second World War her mother was again admitted to a Psychiatric Hospital and Sheila did not see her again for over twenty years Her father employed a housekeeper and Sheila was able to return once again to her own home in Kenton Middlesex now part of Greater London On leaving School at fourteen in 1945 Sheila had a little further education which included what was then called commercial training shorthand typing and bookkeeping She then became Secretary to an Almoner at a private pre NHS Clinic in London before becoming Secretary to a Harley Street Consultant She left work when she married in 1952 She and her husband spent the first eleven years of their marriage living with her father in Sheila s childhood home looking after her father husband and in the course of time two children In 1963 she moved to Hertfordshire with her family and when her sons grew older she studied and passed the required examinations that enabled her to go to Teacher Training College In 1971 she began teaching in a local Primary School and soon enjoyed the responsibility for Girls games coaching the Netball Teams for the inter school matches and annual Netball Rally activities that she had been unable to enjoy herself during her education due to the restrictions of the war years Severe long standing facial neuralgia forced her to take early retirement after some years of teaching and the satisfaction she had in her chosen career made this hard to bear She felt that she had made a positive contribution to her pupils futures which had been curtailed because of the constant neuralgic pain Sheila has always enjoyed an active life and played tennis until she turned seventy She attends a weekly Keep Fit class and also a Medau movement session She spent many years singing in a Senior Ladies Choir and enjoyed Folk Dancing until very recently She is an avid reader when time permits loves her garden but now has a lesser love for the work it requires Her marriage continued for almost fifty five years until her husband died from cancer in the Spring of 2007 Eight months later Sheila herself was diagnosed with breast cancer and had surgery in January 2008 Her other hobby of doing jigsaw puzzles has not been indulged for some time Life is too busy and she is in constant pain Sheila Gaylor wrote her book in her maiden name of Brook as a tribute to her late parents As she wrote her story she appreciated how much anxiety and sorrow her father had suffered and how her mother s mental illness had deprived her of her home her family and her freedom

The Musical Times and Singing-class Circular ,1921 The Musical Times & Singing-class Circular ,1921 The Musical Times ,1921 Jugoslovenski-britanski odnosi Petar Kačavenda,1988 Struggle and Suffrage in Wakefield Gaynor Haliday,2019-06-27 Much has been written about the men of Wakefield but apart from a couple of well documented individuals the women of Wakefield have remained largely ignored Yet many women in this prosperous West Riding town worked hard to improve their lives and those of other women Whether this was healthcare housing working conditions or providing refuge and training so that girls with no means of support could be made fit for employment Wakefield s women worked separately and together to achieve their mutual goals Some were active campaigners and lobbyists others chose vocations that quietly improved the lives of the women around them Struggle and Suffrage in Wakefield uses historical newspaper articles minutes of meetings annual reports first hand stories and research into census returns to illustrate how women's lives changed over a 100 year period and reveal some of those Wakefield women whose influence made things happen The Builder, 1923 Muslim Communities in England 1962-90 Jed Fazakarley, 2017-07-10 This book analyses Muslim integration into English society from the 1960s to the 1990s The author argues that contrary to common narratives built around a sudden transformation during the Rushdie affair religious identity was of great importance to English Muslims throughout this period The study also considers what the experiences of Muslim communities tell us about British multiculturalism With chapters which consider English Muslim experiences in education employment and social services British multiculturalism is shown to be a capacious artifice variegated across and within localities and resistant to periodization It is understood as positing separate ethnic communities and serving these communities with special provisions aimed ultimately at integration It is argued moreover to have developed its own momentum limiting the efficacy of 21st century backlashes against it Muslim Communities in England 1962-90 will be of interest to students and scholars across a range of disciplines including sociology history and politics The Foundry Trade Journal, 1925 The theory of educational sloyd, lects Otto Aron Salomon, 1892 Humanity, 1919 The Commercial Motor, 1929 An Immigration History of Britain Panikos Panayi, 2014-09-11 Immigration ethnicity multiculturalism and racism have become part of daily discourse in Britain in recent decades yet far from being new these phenomena have characterised British life since the 19th century While the numbers of immigrants increased after the Second World War groups such as the Irish Germans and East European Jews have been arriving settling and impacting on British society from the Victorian period onwards In this comprehensive and fascinating account Panikos Panayi examines immigration as an ongoing process in which ethnic communities evolve as individuals choose whether to retain their ethnic identities and customs or to integrate and assimilate into wider British norms Consequently he tackles the contradictions in the history of immigration over the past two centuries migration versus government control migrant poverty versus social mobility ethnic identity versus increasing Anglicisation and above all racism versus multiculturalism Providing an important historical context to contemporary debates and taking into account the complexity and variety of individual experiences over time this book demonstrates that no simple approach or theory can summarise the migrant experience in Britain
