close or relevant to it that you know It is about having skills and knowledge that empowers you to be an independent learner Literature on classroom practices show a number of shortcomings in diverse areas such as poor teacher knowledge overcrowded classrooms and lack of resources for learning An independent student will strive under such an environment by studying independently searching for resources and finding multimodal ways of learning It is also important to note that naturally human beings are curious and want to learn in order to conquer their world Hence Piaget's work of intellectual autonomy cannot be ignored when exploring metacognition If learning experiences were ideal and developmental they would be no need to nurture metacognition Unfortunately the education systems remove students' curiosity by bringing fake environments into learning that impede creation and imagination This book emphasises the power of metacognition at different levels of learning It can be seen as a parallel intervention approach with expanded knowledge on how to extend existing skills for young children which is a pre-intervention Authors in this book bring diverse viewpoints from diverse fields on how to nurture metacognition thus giving the reader an opportunity to borrow strategies from other fields This contribution is a mixture of empirical contributions and opinion pieces informed by review of literature

Visuospatial Reasoning Kay Owens, 2014-11-07 This book develops the theoretical perspective on visuospatial reasoning in ecocultural contexts granting insights on how the language gestures and representations of different cultures reflect visuospatial reasoning in context For a number of years two themes in the field of mathematics education have run parallel with each other with only a passing acquaintance These two areas are the psychological perspective on visuospatial reasoning and ecocultural perspectives on mathematics education This volume examines both areas of research and explores the intersection of these powerful ideas In addition there has been a growing interest in sociocultural aspects of education and in particular that of Indigenous education in the field of mathematics education There has not however been a sound analysis of how environmental and cultural contexts impact visuospatial reasoning although it was noted as far back as the 1980s when Alan Bishop developed his duality of visual processing and interpreting visual information This book provides this analysis and in so doing not only articulates new and worthwhile lines of research but also uncovers and makes real a variety of useful professional approaches in teaching school mathematics With a renewed interest in visuospatial reasoning in the mathematics education community this volume is extremely timely and adds significantly to current literature on the topic
