Phase 1 - 3rd Edition Disha Experts,2021-02-04      Collaboration and the Future of Education Gordon Andrews,Wilson J. Warren,James Cousins,2015-10-08 Current educational reforms have given rise to various types of educational Taylorism which encourage the creation of efficiency models in pursuit of a unified way to teach In history education curricula this has been introduced through scripted textbook based programs such as Teacher Curriculum Institute s History Alive and completely online curricula They include the jargon of authentic methods such as primary sources cooperative learning differentiated instruction and access to technology yet the craft of teaching is removed and an experience that should be marked by discovery and reflection is replaced with comparatively empty processes This volume provides systematic models and examples of ways that history teachers can compete with and effectively halt this transformation The alternatives the authors present are based on collaborative models that address the art of teaching for pre service and practicing secondary history teachers as well as collegiate history educators Relying on original research and a maturing body of secondary literature on historical thinking this book illuminates how collaboration can create real historical learning      Graduate Programs in the Biological/Biomed Sciences & Health-Related/Med Prof 2015 (Grad 3) Peterson's,2014-12-16 Peterson s Graduate Programs in the Biological Biomedical Sciences Health Related Medical Professions 2015 contains profiles of 6 750 graduate programs at over 1 200 institutions in the biological biomedical sciences and health related medical professions Informative data profiles are included for 6 750 graduate programs in every available discipline in the biological and biomedical sciences and health related medical professions including facts and figures on accreditation degree requirements application deadlines and contact information financial support faculty and student body profiles Two page in depth descriptions written by featured institutions offer complete details on specific graduate program school or department as well as information on faculty research and the college or university Comprehensive directories list programs in this volume as well as others in the graduate series      Cellular and Phenotypic Plasticity in Cancer Petranel Theresa Ferrao,Andreas Behren,Robin Anderson, Erik Thompson,2015-09-17 The process of Epithelial Mesenchymal Transition EMT is known to result in a phenotype change in cells from a proliferative state to a more invasive state EMT has been reported to drive the metastatic spread of various cancers and has also been associated with drug resistance to cytotoxics and targeted therapeutics Recently phenotype switching akin to EMT has been reported in non epithelial cancers such as metastatic

melanoma This process involves changes in EMT Transcription Factors EMT TFs suggesting that phenotype switching may be common to several tumour types It remains unclear as to whether the presence of both Epithelial like and Mesenchymal like cells are a pre requisite for phenotype switching within a tumour how this heterogeneity is regulated and if alteration of cell phenotype is sufficient to mediate migratory changes or whether drivers of cell migration result in an associated phenotype switch in cancer cells Similarly it has yet to be clarified if cells in an altered phenotype can be refractory to drug therapy or whether mediators of drug resistance induce a concurrent phenotypic change Little is known today about the underlying genetic epigenetic and transient changes that accompany this phenotypic switch and about the role for the tumor micro environment in influencing it Hence this is currently an area of speculation and keen interest in the Oncology field with wide ranging translational implications In this Frontiers Research Topic we discuss our current understanding of these concepts in various cancer types including breast cancer colorectal cancer and metastatic melanoma This topic covers how these processes of cellular and phenotypic plasticity are regulated and how they relate to cancer initiation progression dormancy metastases and response to cytotoxics or targeted therapies

New Directions in the Management of Status Epilepticus Batool F. Kirmani, Ashok K. Shetty, Lee A. Shapiro, 2019-02-06 Status Epilepticus SE is a neurological emergency and has high morbidity and mortality The International League Against Epilepsy ILAE recently updated their definition to specify that SE is a condition resulting either from the failure of the mechanisms responsible for seizure termination or from the initiation of mechanisms which lead to abnormally prolonged seizures Such phenomena can lead to long term neurological complications due to neuronal death glia neurological injury aberrant neuroplasticity oxidative stress and inflammation and alteration of neuronal networks Depending upon the type and duration of SE these mechanisms are quite variable Therefore in response to the updated definition of SE novel avenues of research are required to address the specified involvement of the underlying mechanisms and pathophysiology resulting in the development of and outcomes from SE Improving the basic science understanding of SE will facilitate essential clinical trials One can envision such experiments to include device and compound based technological interventions directed at aborting the seizure activity and improving clinical outcomes Benzodiazepines remain one of the cornerstones of treatment and studies are underway to study new delivery options including intranasal buccal and intramuscular midazolam in addition to rectal diazepam with the goal of aborting the seizure activity outside the hospitals as rapidly as possible Approved and off label anticonvulsants such as phenytoin phenobarbital valproate topiramate levetiracetam lacosamide steroids immunosuppressants and neuroprotective compounds have also shown some efficacy at treating SE However substantial challenges remain in optimally managing SE and minimizing the short and long term complications Such difficulties can be overcome by innovative approaches targeting the underlying mechanisms of neuronal excitability glia neuronal death neuroplasticity oxidative stress inflammation and neuroinflammation
