Ahearne-Kroll, 2023 The Oxford Handbook of the Synoptic Gospels presents essays that push the field beyond the Synoptic Problem and theological themes that ignore the particularities of each Gospel. Swimming Shermans David Fletcher, 2012-05-20 The Sherman DD Duplex Drive tank was a brilliant innovation; the design and development of a tank that could float and even swim in water was controversial. Each tank was enveloped in a waterproofed canvas screen, launched at sea from a landing craft, and then swam to shore where the screens were deflated, allowing the tanks to operate as fighting vehicles. This book discusses the Sherman DD's many variants, including the prototype Valentine DD tank, and examines the successes and tragic failures on the beaches of Normandy and further into North West Europe, including the challenge of crossing the River Rhine.

Making Movies into Art Kaveh Askari, 2014-12-12 Focusing on early cinema's relationship with the pictorial arts, this pioneering study explores how cinema's emergence was grounded in theories of picture composition, craft, and arts education, from magic lantern experiments in the 1890s in New York through to early Hollywood feature films in the 1920s. Challenging received notions that the advent of cinema was a celebration of mechanisation and a radical rejection of nineteenth-century traditions of representation, Kaveh Askari instead emphasises the overlap between craft traditions and modernity in early film. Opening up valuable new perspectives on the history of film as art Askari links American silent cinema with the practice of teaching the public how to appreciate fine art charts its entrance into arts education via art schools and university film courses shows how concepts of artistic production entered films through a material interest in the studio and examines the way in which Maurice Tourneur and Rex Ingram made early art films by shaping an image of the film director around the idea of the fine artist
