

European Absolutism — Document Packet #1

1. What problems did Richelieu see in France when he took over? Muggins drew some of them. What would a "good" king do to fix Richelieu's problems?

1. Countering the power and influence of the Huguenots.
2. Centralizing the royal power and reducing the influence of the nobility.
3. Reforming and creating the French economy and system of taxation to pay for Richelieu's.

Cardinal Richelieu described Louis XIII as a good king. While driven by glory, he also had a desire for order. Naturally, moderate and reserved, he used more in his words and intentions. But his actions had more history and power and he was easily manipulated by others.

2. What principles did Cardinal Richelieu describe in his theory of government?

The divine rights of kings and what the king says goes are questions about it.

3. Why was being near the king a coveted position? What is the attitude of the Courtier? What attitude toward Louis XIV? What advantages did the king have in governing if the nobles became more concerned with court life and status than about their own political power?

Being near the king was coveted because you were higher than most other people and got to live in Versailles, in luxury while your wealth was gradually done for you. I think he had a good attitude towards the fact the nobles knew that the reason for this is because he wanted the members of the king. If the nobles became more concerned about court life and status than about their own political power, the king would have an easier time governing happier people since the nobles wouldn't be preoccupied with their own political power.
