Missionary families Emily Manktelow, 2016-05-16 Missionary families were an integral component of the missionary enterprise both as active agents on the global religious stage and as a force within the enterprise that shaped understandings and theories of mission itself Taking the family as a legitimate unit of historical analysis in its own right for the first time Missionary families traces changing familial policies and lived realities throughout the nineteenth century and powerfully argues for the importance of an historical understanding of the missionary enterprise informed by the complex interplay between the intimate the personal and the professional By looking at marriage parenting and childhood professionalism vocation and domesticity race gender and generation this first in depth study of missionary families reveals their profound importance to the missionary enterprise and concludes that mission history can no longer be written without attention to the personal emotional and intimate aspects of missionary lives Prelude to Imperialism H. Alan C. Cairns, 2023-05-03 In the half century preceding imperial control approximately eight hundred Britons lived and travelled in East and Central Africa Prelude to Imperialism 1965 examines their relations with and attitudes to African tribal societies The author presents a broad survey of tribal life an analysis of culture contact and an extended discussion of the underlying assumptions of the British evaluation of Africans and of the conditions in which they lived The description of African social conditions and the analysis of grass roots imperialism constitute important contributions to the debate on Western imperialism The Pilgrim William Temple, 1920 Includes section Recent books The Founder Robert I. Rotberg, 1990-10-25 The definitive biography of one of the most controversial figures of the 19th century captures a life that was complex and fascinating evil and good Illustrated The Colonialist William Kelleher Storey, 2025-05 Mining magnate politician and imperialist Cecil Rhodes had a larger than life impact on the development of Southern Africa and the extension of British imperial power This critical biography of Rhodes elaborates his life and times showing how his racist politics impacted mining industry transportation warfare and society while discussing his controversial and enduring legacies A Bibliography of the Negro in Africa and America , 1928 Of Revelation and Revolution, Volume 1 Jean Comaroff, John L. Comaroff, 2008-04-15 Of Revelation and Revolution is at once a highly imaginative richly detailed history of colonialism Christianity and consciousness in South Africa and a theoretically challenging consideration of the most difficult questions posed by the nature of social experience Although primarily concerned with the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Of Revelation and Revolution also looks forward to the age of apartheid and beyond International Review of Missions , 1922 The Matabele Mission John Smith Moffat, Emily Unwin Moffat, David Livingstone, 1945 Creating Religious Childhoods in

Anglo-World and British Colonial Contexts, 1800-1950 Hugh Morrison, Mary Clare Martin, 2017-01-20 Drawing on examples from British world expressions of Christianity this collection further greater understanding of religion as a critical element of modern children's and young people's history It builds on emerging scholarship that challenges the view that religion had a solely negative impact on nineteenth and twentieth century children or that secularization is the only lens to apply to childhood and religion Putting forth the argument that religion was an abiding influence among British world children throughout the nineteenth and most of the twentieth centuries this volume places religion at the center of analysis and discussion At the same time it positions the religious factor within a broader social and cultural framework The essays focus on the historical contexts in which religion was formative for children in various British settings denoted as Anglo or colonial during the nineteenth and early to mid twentieth centuries These contexts include mission fields churches families Sunday schools camps schools and youth movements Together they are treated as sites in which religion contributed to identity formation albeit in different ways relating to such factors as gender race disability and denomination The contributors develop this subject for childhoods that were experienced largely but not exclusively outside the metropole in a diversity of geographical settings By extending the geographic range even within the British world it provides a more rounded perspective on children's global engagement with religion The English Catalogue of Books ...: 1801-1836. Of Revelation and Revolution, Volume 2 John L. Comaroff, Jean Comaroff, 2009-02-15 In the second of a proposed three volume study John and Jean Comaroff continue their exploration of colonial evangelism and modernity in South Africa Moving beyond the opening moments of the encounter between the British Nonconformist missions and the Southern Tswana peoples Of Revelation and Revolution Volume II explores the complex transactions both epic and ordinary among the various dramatis personae along this colonial frontier The Comaroffs trace many of the major themes of twentieth century South African history back to these formative encounters The relationship between the British evangelists and the Southern Tswana engendered complex exchanges of goods signs and cultural markers that shaped not only African existence but also bourgeois modernity back home in England We see in this volume how the colonial attempt to civilize Africa set in motion a dialectical process that refashioned the everyday lives of all those drawn into its purview creating hybrid cultural forms and potent global forces which persist in the postcolonial age This fascinating study shows how the initiatives of the colonial missions collided with local traditions giving rise to new cultural practices new patterns of production and consumption new senses of style and beauty and new forms of class distinction and ethnicity As noted by reviewers of the first volume the Comaroffs have succeeded in providing a model for the study of colonial encounters By insisting on its dialectical nature they demonstrate that colonialism can no longer be seen as a one sided relationship between the conquering and the conquered It is rather a complex system of reciprocal determinations one whose legacy is very much with us today Missionary Discourses of Difference E. Cleall, 2012-06-29

Missionary Discourse examines missionary writings from India and southern Africa to explore colonial discourses about race religion gender and culture The book is organised around three themes family sickness and violence which were key areas of missionary concern and important axes around which colonial difference was forged An Annotated Guide to the
