DNA is composed of building blocks called _____. - answer nucleotides

In eukaryotic cells DNA has the appearance of a _____. - answer double helix

Which of the following statements is not true of scientific experiments? - answer They must occur under carefully controlled conditions found in a laboratory.

In an experiment, investigators try to control all of the variables except one—the one that tests the hypothesis. Which of the following reasons is the primary rationale for controlling variables in an experiment? - answer To eliminate alternative explanations for the results of an experiment

Which of the following statements could not be supported or rejected by a scientific experiment? - answer The first living cell on Earth came from outer space

Which of the following statements is true of a hypothesis? - answer A hypothesis can be supported or rejected through experimentation.

Which of the following variables did Pasteur change in his experiment to test the hypothesis of spontaneous generation? - answer The shape of the flask

In Pasteur's experiment to test the hypothesis of spontaneous generation, why did he boil the broth in both flasks? - answer To kill any existing organisms in the broth

What results from the Zonosemata experiment support the sub-hypothesis that wing waving alone reduces predation by jumping spiders? - answer Zonosemata flies with housefly wings are attacked less frequently.

Suppose that Zonosemata flies whose own wings had been clipped and reattached were attacked more frequently than untreated Zonosemata flies. How would this result affect the reliability of the other experimental results - answer All results for the experimental groups involving wing surgery would be invalid.

What are the independent variables, the variables that were manipulated by the researcher? - answer mouse coat color and the presence or absence of moonlight

What is the dependent variable, the response to the variables being tested? - answer the number of mice caught
