Surface & Coatings Technology J. P. G. Farr,B. D. Sartwell,2016-06-03 Surface Coatings Technology represents the start of a new era for the journal not only with the change in title to Surface and Coatings Technology but also with the significant change in the journal s scope which is intended to place it in the forefront of the coatings and surface modification field This presents volume contains 100 contributions It is intended to become the principal forum for the interchange of information on the science technology and application of coatings and modified surfaces as they relate to modification of the mechanical chemical or optical properties of materials The aim of the journal is to publish research papers and invited review articles on various subjects A new feature will be the addition of a short section at the beginning of each issue in which each author states which technical problems are being addressed in his article These will be catalogued at the end of each year in order that a scientist or engineer who has a particular problem related to coatings can determine whether there were any papers that addressed the problem It is hoped that Surface and Coatings Technology will have a significant impact in one of the most exciting areas of materials research being investigated today Simple Techniques for Deriving Vehicular Origin Destination Patterns in Small Study Areas Richard Gerhard Dowling,1984 Techniques for estimating origin destination trip patterns are developed and tested in the San Jose California central business district Bulletin on the Activities of the Institute for Geology and Subsurface Research from ... Institouton Geōlogias kai Ereunōn Hypedaphous (Greece),1964 Clean Lakes Program Phase II Project ,1990 Stream Channel Stability E. H. Grissinger,1981 This process oriented study was organized to investigate three complementary aspects of channel stability including a the nature of channel failure processes b the influences of valley fill depositional units on these processes and c the properties and distributions of the valley fill units The study included the near surface geologic investigation investigation of the late Quaternary valley fill deposits and channel morphometric investigations The properties and distributions of the valley fill units directly and indirectly influence the nature of channel failure processes Although gravity induced failure is the most frequent form of present day bank instability the type of gravity failure is dependent upon the properties of the valley fill units Both depositional and weathering properties influence the type of failure The valley fill units indirectly influence bank stability through their control of groundwater movement and the development of unusually large seepage forces at point locations along the channels Bed instability has primarily resulted from upstream migration of knickpoints and the rate of knickpoint migration has been affected by valley fill unit controls Present drainage systems in the study area are immature channel morphometry has not adjusted at this time to the new flow regime resultant from cultural and natural changes Catalog of Copyright Entries.
