4 Wheel Drive (4WD) System > Coupling Assembly > Direct Electro Hydraulic Actuator Coupling > Description and Operation

Description

4WD ECU processes signals from various sensors and determines the current road and driving conditions. The ECU then utilizes this information to implement precision control over the 4WD coupling's multi-plate clutch and variably adjust the amount of torque delivered to the rear wheels.

Four Wheel Drive (4WD) transfer mode selection

1. AUTO MODE:

- A. When driving in 4WD AUTO mode, the vehicle operates similar to conventional 2WD vehicles under normal operating conditions. However, if the system determines that there is a need for the 4WD mode, the engine's driving power is distributed to all four wheels automatically without driver intervention.
- B. When driving on normal roads and pavement, the vehicle moves similar to conventional 2WD vehicles.
