

- "since" : conjunction : shows the passage of time. Time had passed since the first time he got the message but it was still close to his heart.

Times since have said,

- Time : personification : time had said this to him.
- There were numerous occasions that he had received the message that life wasn't going to be easy. Time had given him this wisdom and the poet was thankful for that.
- "have said" : repetition : confirms the enduring message that life has always echoed to all men.

In that mysterious voice you shed

- "you" : referring to the world
- "mysterious voice" : characterises the world and adds to the sense of spiritual reflection
- He connects this voice to divinity / a higher power - conflating the world with God.

From clouds and hills around:

- "sky, clouds, leaze, hills" : references to the elements of nature that suggests a higher power /divinity perhaps.
- "You shed from clouds and hills around" : shows how life itself is reflected in nature which speaks to the man every day, reminding him of his mortality.
- ":" : column : suggests what the world tells him. The world was going to talk to him now. The entire poem is in the form of a conversation/dialog.

Many have heard the message

- The poet is telling the world that it must have brought this message to many people.

Many will never know

- Many have tried to understand the message.
- "Many will never know" : message : confirms the message received.
- "Many" : repetition : emphasis.

Many have heard the message, but none

- There are a few people who have heard the message but none have understood it. The poet is saying that the message is not easy to understand. The poet is saying that the message is not easy to understand.

Many have heard the message, but none

- Many have heard the message, but none have understood it.
- "Many have heard the message, but none" : repetition : emphasis.
- "Many have heard the message, but none" : repetition : emphasis.

Many have heard the message, but none

- The poet is telling the world that it must have brought this message to many people.
