CROSSWORD by Marc Romano

ACROSS 1 I am hopelessly addicted to the New York Times crossword puzzle 2 Like many addicts I was reluctant to admit I have a problem 3 The hints I was heading for trouble came at first only occasionally 4 The moments of panic when I realized that I might not get my fix on a given day 5 The toll on relationships 6 The strained friendships 7 The lost hours I could have used to do something more productive 8 It gets worse too

DOWN 1 You're not just playing a game 2 You're constantly broadening your intellectual horizons 3 You spend a lot of time looking at and learning about the world around you 4 You have to if you want to develop the accumulated store of factual information you'll need to get through a crossword puzzle 5 Puzzle people are nice because they have to be 6 The more you know about the world the more you tend to give all things in it the benefit of the doubt before deciding if you like them or not 7 I'm not saying that all crossword lovers are honest folk dripping with goodness 8 I would say though that if I had to toss my keys and wallet to someone before jumping off a pier to save a drowning girl I'd look for the fellow in the crowd with the daily crossword in his hand

Rationality and Relativism I.C. Jarvie, 2015-07-03 Anthropology revolves round answers to problems about the nature development and unity of mankind problems that are both philosophical and scientific In this book first published in 1984 Professor Jarvie applies Popper's philosophy of science to understanding the history and theory of anthropology Jarvie describes how the ancient view that the aim of science and philosophy was to get at the truth is challenged in anthropology by the doctrine of cultural relativism that is that truth varies with the cultural framework He shows how philosophers as various as Peter Winch W V O Quine W T Jones Nelson Goodman and Richard Rorty were influenced by this doctrine Yet these philosophers also accept the value of rational argument Jarvie believes that there is a contradiction between relativism and any notion of human rationality that centres around argument Forced by the contradiction to choose between rationality and relativism he argues strongly that logical scientific and moral considerations favour rationality and urge repudiation of relativism The central argument of the book is that relativism is intellectually disastrous and has fostered intellectual attitudes from which anthropology still suffers
