Racism and Human Rights Raphael Walden,2013-11-11 The topical and thought provoking articles in this volume have been contributed by leading authorities and discuss some of the key issues currently facing the human rights community Many were originally circulated by the CCJO as its contribution to the vigorous debate at the World Conference Against Racism The issues discussed include among others human rights and the Security Council slavery racism on the internet and religion and human rights The Consultative Council of Jewish Organizations CCJO was founded in 1946 by the Nobel Peace Prize Laureate Rene Cassin who was also its president for many years As an NGO in consultative status with the United Nations it has played an active role in the growth of international human rights both by participating in UN activities and by lending its weight to human rights campaigns worldwide For more information see the website www.ccjo.org

Teaching History with Big Ideas S. G. Grant,Jill M. Gradwell,2010-07-16 In the case studies that make up the bulk of this book middle and high school history teachers describe the decisions and plans and the problems and possibilities they encountered as they ratcheted up their instruction through the use of big ideas Framing a teaching unit around a question such as Why don t we know anything about Africa offers both teacher and students opportunities to explore historical actors ideas and events in ways both rich and engaging Such an approach exemplifies the construct of ambitious teaching whereby teachers demonstrate their ability to marry their deep knowledge of subject matter students and the school context in ways that fundamentally challenge the claim that history is boring

Educational Research Quarterly ,2003

Doing History Mark Donnelly,Claire Norton,2020-11-16 Doing History bridges the gap between the way history is studied in school or as represented in the media and the way it is studied at university level History as an academic discipline has dramatically changed in recent decades and has been enhanced by ideas from other disciplines the influence of postmodernism and historians incorporation of their own reflections into their work Doing History presents the ideas and debates that shape how we do history today covering arguments about the nature of historical knowledge and the function of historical writing whether we can ever really know what happened in the past what sources historians depend on and the relative value of popular and academic histories This revised edition includes new chapters on public history and activist histories It looks at global representations of the past across the centuries and provides up to date suggestions for further reading presenting the reader with a thorough and current introduction to studying history at an academic level as well as a pathway to progress this study further Clearly structured and accessibly written it is an essential volume for all students embarking on the study of history
