Technological Setting Bernadette Bensaude Vincent, Sacha Loeve, Alfred Nordmann, Astrid Schwarz, 2017-02-24 What kind of stuff is the world made of What is the nature or substance of things These are ontological questions and they are usually answered with respect to the objects of science The objects of technoscience tell a different story that concerns the power promise and potential of things not what they are but what they can be Seventeen scholars from history and philosophy of science epistemology social anthropology cultural studies and ethics each explore a research object in its technological setting ranging from carbon to cardboard from arctic ice cores to nuclear waste from wetlands to GMO seeds from fuel cells to the great Pacific garbage patch Together they offer fascinating stories and novel analytic concepts all the while opening up a space for reflecting on the specific character of technoscientific objects With their promise of sustainable innovation and a technologically transformed future these objects are highly charged with values and design expectations By clarifying their mode of existence we are learning to come to terms more generally with the furniture of the technoscientific world where for example the dead matter of classical physics is becoming the smart material of emerging and converging technologies

Environments of Intelligence Hajo Greif, 2017-09-01 What is the role of the environment and of the information it provides in cognition More specifically may there be a role for certain artefacts to play in this context These are questions that motivate 4E theories of cognition as being embodied embedded extended enactive In his take on that family of views Hajo Greif first defends and refines a concept of information as primarily natural environmentally embedded in character which had been eclipsed by information processing views of cognition He continues with an inquiry into the cognitive bearing of some artefacts that are sometimes referred to as intelligent environments Without necessarily having much to do with Artificial Intelligence such artefacts may ultimately modify our informational environments With respect to human cognition the most notable effect of digital computers is not that they might be able or become able to think but that they alter the way we perceive think and act The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.tandfebooks.com/doi/view/10.4324/9781315401867> has been made available under a Creative Commons CC BY licence Reasoning in Measurement Nicola Mößner, Alfred Nordmann, 2017-03-16 This collection offers a new understanding of the epistemology of measurement The interdisciplinary volume explores how measurements are produced for example in astronomy and seismology in studies of human sexuality and ecology in brain imaging and intelligence testing It considers photography as a measurement technology and Henry David Thoreau's poetic measures as closing the gap between mind and world By focusing on measurements as the hard won results of conceptual as well as technical operations the authors of the book no longer presuppose that measurement is always and exclusively a means of representing some feature of a target object or entity Measurement also provides knowledge about the degree to which things have been standardized or harmonized it is an indicator of how closely human practices are attuned to each other and the world Standardization in Measurement Oliver Schlaudt, Lara Huber, 2015-10-06 The application of standard measurement is a cornerstone of modern science In this collection of essays standardization of procedure units of measurement and the epistemology of standardization are addressed by specialists from sociology history and the philosophy of science The Mysterious Science of the Sea, 1775-1943 Natascha Adamowsky, 2015-10-06 The depths of the oceans are the last example of terra incognita on earth Adamowsky presents a study of the sea arguing that contrary to popular belief post Enlightenment discourse on the sea was still subject to mystery and wonder and not wholly rationalized by science Scientists' Expertise as Performance Joris Vandendriessche, Evert Peeters, Kaat Wils, 2015-10-06 The essays in this collection explore our reliance on experts within a historical context and across a wide range of fields including agriculture engineering health sciences and labour management Contributors argue that experts were highly aware of their audiences and used performance to gain both scientific and popular support Spaceship Earth in the Environmental Age, 1960-1990 Sabine Höhler, 2015-10-06 The idea of the earth as a vessel in space came of age in an era shaped by space travel and the Cold War Höhler's study brings together technology science and ecology to explore the way this latter day ark was invoked by politicians environmentalists cultural historians writers of science fiction and many others across three decades Philosophy, Computing and Information Science Ruth Hagengruber, Uwe Riss, 2015-10-06 Over the last four decades computers and the internet have become an intrinsic part of all our lives but this speed of development has left related philosophical enquiry behind Featuring the work of computer scientists and philosophers these essays provide an overview of an exciting new area of philosophy that is still taking shape
