Barnes,2009 A thought provoking study of local peoples participation in the process of cultural transfer in colonial Northern Nigeria The process of cultural transfer in Northern Nigeria was historically thought to have been dictated by European colonial domination In fact Western missionaries may not have been able to guide African Christians toward mastery of the secular world when they themselves lacked the worldliness to do so In this penetrating study Andrew E Barnes argues that competition among colonizing forces impelled British colonial administrators and Christian missionaries alike to offer Africans those aspects of Western civilization Africans themselves specifically wanted schools that provided greater access to Western intellectual skills In Making Headway The Introduction of Western Civilization in Colonial Northern Nigeria Barnes demonstrates effectively that Europeans were successful in transferring to local peoples the cultural values they hoped to foster only because Africans and Europeans reached consensus about the nature and character of the Western civilization to be shared Ultimately this study asserts Africans had greater control over the introduction of Western civilization to the region than traditionally thought Andrew E Barnes is Associate Professor of History at Arizona State University Curriculum Review ,1985 Lloyd's Register OneOcean's Guide to Port Entry 1995-96

Linguistics and Literacy William Frawley,2013-04-17 William Frawley University of Delaware Several years ago I performed a kind of perverse experiment I showed to several linguistic colleagues the following comment made by Walker Percy in The Message in the Bottle language is too important a problem to be left only to linguists The linguists responses were peculiarly predictable What does Percy know He s a mercenary outsider a novelist a psychiatrist How can he say something like that Now it should be known that the linguists who said such things in response were ardent followers of the linguistic vogue to cross disciplines at whim for the sake of explanation any explanation It was odd to say the least Percy was damned by the very people who agreed with him Fortunately the papers in this book though radically interdisciplinary do not fall prey to the kind of hypocrisy described above The papers from the Third Delaware Symposium on Language Studies address the question of literacy a linguistic problem too important to be left only to linguists but many of the authors are not linguists at all and those who are linguists have taken the care to see beyond the parochialism of a single discipline The subsequent papers have been written by psychologists linguists anthropologists computer scientists and language teachers to explain the problem of how humans develop comprehend and produce extended pieces of information discourses and texts
