Handbook of Creativity John A. Glover,Royce R. Ronning,Cecil R. Reynolds,2013-03-09 The motivation underlying our development of a handbook of creativity was different from what usually is described by editors of other such volumes Our sense that a handbook was needed sprang not from a deluge of highly erudite studies calling out for organization nor did it stem from a belief that the field had become so fully articulated that such a book was necessary to provide summation and reference Instead this handbook was conceptualized as an attempt to provide structure and organization for a field of study that from our perspective had come to be a large scale example of a degenerating research program see Brown Chapter 1 The handbook grew out of a series of discussions that spanned several years At the heart of most of our interactions was a profound unhappiness with the state of research on creativity Our consensus was that the number of good works published on creativity each year was small and growing smaller Further we could not point to a journal text or professional organization that was providing leadership for the field in shaping a scientifically sound framework for the development of research programs in creativity At the same time we were casting about for a means of honoring a dear friend E Paul Torrance Our decision was that we might best be able to honor Paul and influence research on creativity by developing a handbook designed to challenge traditional perspectives while offering research agendas based on contemporary psychological views

Hill,2024-05-30 If there were a perfect unending existence awaiting us after death what would it be like What would we do there Would you want to go there at all Today philosophers of religion are increasingly interested in questions of this kind This book uses the approach of analytic philosophy to examine a conception of heaven that is rooted in Christian tradition but rarely considered by modern philosophers and theologians heaven as atemporal that is a state in which no time passes It argues that such a view is not only coherent but offers answers to some key problems facing the concept of heaven Along the way it considers topics such as the nature of time the possibility of atemporal persons the relationship between earthly and heavenly selves the beatific vision and the role of the body and how the blessed in heaven could be said to be divine
