Geography and Social Justice in the Classroom Todd W. Kenreich, 2013. The rise of critical discourses in the discipline of geography has opened up new avenues for social justice. Geography and Social Justice in the Classroom brings together contemporary research in geography and fresh thinking about geography's place in the social studies curriculum. The book's main purposes are to introduce teachers and teacher educators to new research in geography and to provide theoretical and practical examples of geography in the curriculum. The book begins with the premise that power and inequality often have spatial landscapes. With the tools and concepts of geography, students can develop a critical geographic literacy to explore the spatial expressions of power in their lives, communities, and the wider world. The first half of the book introduces new research in the field of geography on diverse topics, including the social construction of maps as instruments of power and authority. The second half of the book turns the reader's attention to geography in the P-12 classroom and highlights how geography can enable teachers and students to explore issues of power and social justice in the classroom. Through critical geographic literacy, educators can boldly position themselves and their students as advocates for a more just world.

Principles of Map Design Judith A. Tyner, 2017-09-12. This authoritative, reader-friendly text presents core principles of good map design that apply regardless of production methods or technical approach. The book addresses the crucial questions that arise at each step of making a map: Who is the audience? What is the purpose of the map? Where and how will it be used? Visible Numbers Miles A. Kimball, Charles Kostelnick, 2017-07-05 Bringing together scholars from around the world this collection examines many of the historical developments in making data visible through charts graphs thematic maps and now interactive displays Today we are used to seeing data portrayed in a dizzying array of graphic forms Virtually any quantified knowledge from social and physical science to engineering and medicine as well as business government or personal activity has been visualized Yet the methods of making data visible are relatively new innovations most stemming from eighteenth and nineteenth century innovations that arose as a logical response to a growing desire to quantify everything from science economics and industry to population health and crime Innovators such as Playfair Alexander von Humboldt Heinrich Berghaus John Snow Florence Nightingale Francis Galton and Charles Minard began to develop graphical methods to make data and their relations more visible In the twentieth century data design became both increasingly specialized within new and existing disciplines science engineering social science and medicine and at the same time became further democratized with new forms that make statistical business and government data more accessible to the public At the close of the twentieth century and the beginning of the twenty first an explosion in interactive digital data design has exponentially increased our access to data The contributors analyze this fascinating history through a variety of critical approaches including visual rhetoric visual culture genre theory and fully contextualized historical scholarship

Paradigms in Cartography Pablo Iván Azócar Fernández, Manfred Ferdinand Buchroithner, 2013-08-04 In this book the main trends concepts and directions in cartography and mapping in modernism and post modernism are reviewed Philosophical and epistemological issues are analysed in cartography from positivist empiricist neo positivist and post structuralist stances In general in cartography technological aspects have been considered as well as theoretical issues The aim is to highlight the epistemological and philosophical viewpoint during the development of the discipline Some main philosophers who have been influential for contemporary thinking such as Immanuel Kant Ludwig Wittgenstein Karl Popper and Bertrand Russell are considered None of these philosophers wrote about cartography directly excepting Kant but their philosophies are related to cartography and mapping issues The book also analyses the concept of paradigm or paradigm shift coined by Thomas Kuhn who applied it to the history of science Different cartographic trends that have arisen since the second half of the twentieth century are analysed according to this important concept which is implicit inside the scientific or disciplinary communities Further the authors analyse the position of cartography in the context of the sciences and other disciplines adopting a positivistic point of view Additionally they review current trends in cartography and mapping in the context of information and communication technologies in a post modernistic or post structuralistic framework Thus since the 1980s and 1990s new mapping concepts have arisen which challenge the discipline's traditional map conceptions

Misra, 2014-01-01 The first edition of Fundamentals of Cartography was published in 1969 by Prasara University of Mysore It was reprinted by the Concept Publishing Company New Delhi in While the book remained in currency the cartographic processes changed drastically when information technology brought a sea of change in the sources of information drafting of maps and printing processes Drawing maps by hand became obsolete surveying whether ground or aerial was no longer the only major source of information In view of these changes it became necessary to bring out a new edition Realising that unless one knows directions scales projections coordinates ground and air surveys one would fail to understand the proper use of modern information technology in the drawing the maps Thus the contents of 1969 edition are retained and new chapters have been added to update the book In Part II of the book a chapter on Remote Sensing and Satellite Imagery has been added and Part V contains chapters on Computer Aided Cartography Geographic Information System GIS Land Information System LIS and Global Positioning System GPS
