Psychology in Africa (Psychology Revivals) Mallory Wober, 2014-06-17 It is now well over a hundred and fifty years since the first celebrated geographical explorations of Africa took place. However, it was many years before there began quests of a different kind: the investigation of behaviour, personality, attitude and ability among Africa's people. Originally published in 1975, this book is an account of that work: the first explorations in Africa of psychology. In an exhaustive and well-documented report, the author, a psychologist who had himself done research in Nigeria, Uganda and who had lectured at Makerere University, drew together the main threads of the research carried out so far, putting the issues in an African perspective but anchoring them firmly within the framework of modern psychological thinking and technique of the time. Are there any common personality and intellectual characteristics among Africans? How does weaning affect African child development? How have Africans' feelings developed about city life and industrial work? The questions the author considers range from the broad-based to the specific. The challenges which lay ahead for African investigators, then moving into the mainstream of the work, are also discussed. But perhaps above all, the book made a convincing case for psychology becoming a relevant and finely honed discipline in Black Africa, characterised by practical application to Black African society. Each chapter covers a defined area of modern psychology of the time and presents a comprehensive survey in a language no more technical than the subject warrants. At the time it was felt this book would be invaluable to students of Africa secondary education whose course included a psychology component and to African students beginning a degree course in psychology. It would also have provided an informative supplement to courses in medicine, development studies, political science, sociology and anthropology. Sheikh's Castaway Alexandra Sellers, 2010-10-01 After learning she'd been betrayed by her fiancé, Princess Noor skipped out on her own wedding and wound up stranded on a remote island with none other than the man she was trying to avoid. But her intention was nothing if not determined, and Noor soon discovered that, try as she might, ignoring her feelings for sexy Sheikh Bari al-Khalid was something even a royal couldn't do. As their time on the island stretched from hours into days, Noor could no longer resist her passion for Bari, regardless of the consequences it would have on their future.

War Imagery in Women's Textiles Deborah A. Deacon, Paula E. Calvin, 2014-07-02 Through the centuries, women have used textiles to express their ideas and political opinions, creating items of utility that also function as works of art. Beginning with medieval European embroideries and tapestries such as the Bayeux Tapestry, this book examines the ways in which women around the world have recorded the impact of war on their lives using traditional fabric art forms of knitting, sewing, quilting, embroidery, weaving, basketry and rug making. Works from the United States, Canada, Latin America, Asia, the Middle and Near East and Oceania are analyzed in terms of content and utility and cultural and economic implications for the women who created them.

discussed Traditional women s work served to document the upheaval in their lives and supplemented their family income By creating textiles that responded to the chaos of war women developed new textile traditions modified old traditions and created a vehicle to express their feelings WTFO - The Silence Is Deafening Khaled Hafid,2012-10-01 A young Marine Staff Sergeant finally tells the tale of his two year experience in dealing with deployment conflict death and recovery With a unique upbringing as an Arab American he wrestles with his beliefs and emotions while trying to make sense of everything around him It is a story of triumph from sadness victory from the jaws of defeat Follow him through his journey and see what becomes of him Who's who in America ,2003 Americans Without Law Mark S.
