Subject Council	Responsible Unit/Personnel: Management

II. Title:
Subtle Risk Screening and Subtle Precautions for Patients

III. Policy:
The University of Texas Medical Branch (UTMB) Health System is committed to providing a safe environment for patients, visitors, students, and employees. Identification of individuals at risk for subtle risks which either are new and differing changes to an important step in protecting these individuals at risk.

Identifying Need for and Constructing Subtle Risk Screening:

Clinical staff when performing subtle screening on patients 12 years old or older, within the UTMB Health System, will document whether or not a patient is being evaluated or treated for a behavioral health condition as their primary reason for care. Additionally, clinical staff will document if they become concerned by suspected or behavioral circumstances exhibited by any patient or any third party during the present visit that circumstances, regardless of the primary reason for care.

Screening for Subtle Indicators:

Patients determined to have a behavioral health condition as their primary reason for care or who exhibit concerns or behavioral circumstances will be screened for subtle indicators by utilizing a validated screening tool and the provider will be notified of positive results. If the screening result is positive, subtle precautions will be implemented. (See Appendix 1: P003-01)

Subtle Risk Assessment/Measurements:

A subtle risk assessment will be conducted by a provider on any patient who screened positive for subtle indicators using an evidence-based formal risk assessment tool. Determination for the safety of the patient will be implemented based on the risk level determined by the provider and the patient's risk assessment. (See Appendix 2: 5.6.00.0 Protocol with C-000001)

A measurement will be conducted by the provider using an evidence-based risk measurement tool, all is determined if a change in patient status, patient changes location, location, status at the time of discharge. Measurements will include the risk level of the patient with subtle indicators. (See Appendix 2: 5.6.00.0 Protocol with C-000001)
