Who Are You Who Are So Wise in the Science of Teaching? Rex R. Schultze J.D., 2021-02-10 Based upon years of reviewing the work product of building principal s evaluations of their teaching staff it has been evident to me there is a clear need to improve this critical aspect of school administration This book is designed to provide building principals and assistant principals with guidance on 1 the necessary preparation of the principal to be effective at guiding and coaching their staff 2 the laying of the foundation for their teachers to know the standard of performance expected by the school district as whole and the specific building where they serve guide and teach their students 3 the teaching of their instructional staff what constitutes good lesson planning and instruction as defined by the educational model adopted by the school and art of teaching under that model 4 developing the skills for the writing of effective teacher formative and summative evaluations to assist in the improvement of instruction and 5 the work required in 1 to 4 above to establish and qualify the principal as an expert witness under the Rules of Evidence if he she is called upon to participate in the end game of moving an underperforming teacher along The book is designed as a step by step process with reading assignments and self instruction tasks at the end of each chapter applying the concepts teaching supporting and assisting teachers in the science of teaching needed to develop maintain and excel at their craft It is shown scientifically that where teachers know the district's standards of performance student learning improves and students learn how to learn essential in today's ever-changing society. Being an effective building principal thus requires you to be an expert in your field i.e. that person who is rhetorically asked 'Who are you who are so wise in the science of teaching?' About the Author: As you will surmise quickly in reading this book, Rex Schultze has had the fortunate circumstance of being immersed in public education for his entire life from 1951 to the present as a teacher's and administrator's kid, as a high school teacher for four years, as the brother of an elementary school teacher and administrator, and as a lawyer with a 40-year practice focused on public education both K-12 and community college levels. As such, he brings to you in 'Who are you who are so wise in the science of teaching?' a lifetime of perspective on the value of an education and particularly public education, the most important equalizer of the citizens of our country, and the need to grow, support, and nurture the best teachers possible. Rex is a Boomer, as in Baby Boomer. OK, Boomer, an early version of that generation that grew up in the 50's and 60's, so you will find references to the movies and music of those days throughout the book to add perspective and some fun. Apologies in advance for the succeeding generations; you can google the references, a contribution by Rex to your personal history journey.

Locating Quality in the Dynamic Educator Preparation Landscape Christine DeGregory, Mark LaCelle-Peterson, Karen Lowenstein, Stephanie Schneider, 2025-04-09 Over the past three decades the landscape of educator preparation has changed so that more people can enter the teaching profession than ever before This welcome expansion of access to the teaching profession has been accomplished both through the creation of new entities bringing new models of preparation online and even more so through the multiplication of new program tracks and pathways in the institutions of higher education IHEs that have long been and continue to be responsible for preparing the largest proportion of teachers and other professional educators The preparation landscape has also become more dynamic and more responsive to needs at local and regional levels In this era of teacher shortage expanded access is good news but are all pathways equal with regard to quality of preparation Locating Quality in the Dynamic Educator Preparation Landscape centers on the experiences of a variety of preparation programs all accredited by the Association for Advancing Quality in Educator Preparation AAQEP each unique in its approach to addressing the needs of its prospective teachers and its local school partners The featured programs include public and private preparation providers from across the nation some based in longstanding institutions of higher education some operating in newer organizational models They share a common claim to quality through having met the same accreditation standards yet each excels in its own right in addressing specific needs The book shows that while qualities can be shared quality is fundamentally a divergent rather than a convergent characteristic and that program evaluation and accreditation regimes be framed accordingly It argues that educational policy needs to be based on an appreciation of the many dimensions of quality program practice that are needed to address the varied and particular needs of schools communities and populations that are entering the educator preparation pipeline So long as we are able to ensure that all pathways into teaching result in the preparation of effective educators who are able to serve students schools families and communities well by promoting student learning and thriving we will reap the benefits of this new varied and dynamic landscape of educator preparation Perfect for courses such as Educational Program Evaluation Teacher Education Education Policy Teacher Education Policy and Human Resources in Education Effective Supervision Robert J. Marzano,Tony Frontier,David Livingston,2011-05-09 In Effective Supervision Robert J Marzano Tony Frontier and David Livingston show school and district level administrators how to set the priorities and support the practices that will help all teachers become expert teachers Their five part framework is based on what research tells us about how expertise develops When these five conditions are attended to in a systematic way teachers do improve their skills A well articulated knowledge base for teaching Opportunities for teachers to practice specific strategies or behaviors and to receive feedback Opportunities for teachers to observe and discuss expertise Clear criteria for success and help constructing professional growth and development plans Recognition of the different stages of development progressing toward expertise The focus is on developing a collegial atmosphere in which teachers can freely share effective practices with each other observe one another s classrooms and receive focused feedback on their teaching strategies The constructive dynamics of this approach always keep in sight the aim of enhancing students well being and achievement As the authors note The ultimate criterion for expert performance in the classroom is student achievement Anything else misses the point
