

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior and should not be allowed to fight in the military. However, as he sees the bravery and sacrifice of the men of the 54th Massachusetts, he begins to change his mind and becomes a more progressive and inclusive leader.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry is a diverse group of men from different backgrounds and regions. Some were formerly enslaved, while others were free. They come from different parts of the country, including the South and the North. This diversity reflects the different experiences of African-Americans in 19th-century America.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers of the 54th are prejudiced against the African-American soldiers. They believe that they are inferior and should not be allowed to fight alongside them. However, as they see the bravery and sacrifice of the 54th, their attitudes begin to change.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, African-Americans were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were often paid less than white soldiers and were not allowed to hold the same positions as whites. However, the movie shows that many African-American soldiers were brave and fought heroically.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender is significant because it shows that he is a brave and courageous leader. He is willing to sacrifice his own life for the sake of his men and for the cause of freedom.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings/oughts does your tell, why?

The movie ends with the 54th Massachusetts being sent back to the front lines. This is a disappointing ending for many viewers, as they had hoped that the 54th would be recognized for their bravery and given more respect. However, the movie also shows that the 54th was a brave and courageous group of men who fought for the cause of freedom.
