The Dangerous Rise of Therapeutic Education Kathryn Ecclestone, Dennis Hayes, 2019-02-01 The Dangerous Rise of Therapeutic Education confronts the silent ascendancy of a therapeutic ethos across the educational system and into the workplace Controversial and compelling Kathryn Ecclestone and Dennis Hayes classic text uses a wealth of examples across the education system from primary schools to university and the workplace to show how therapeutic education is turning children young people and adults into anxious and self preoccupied individuals rather than aspiring optimistic and resilient learners who want to know everything about the world Remaining extremely topical the chapters illuminate the powerful effects of therapeutic education including How therapeutic learning is taking shape now and in the future How therapeutic ideas from popular culture have come to govern social thought and policies How the fostering of dependence and compulsory participation in therapeutic activities that encourage the disclosing of emotions can undermine parents and teachers confidence and authority How therapeutic forms of teacher training undermine faith in the pursuit of knowledge How political initiatives in emotional literacy emotional wellbeing and positive mental health propagate a diminished view of human potential throughout the education system and the workplace The Dangerous Rise of Therapeutic Education is an eye opening read for every teacher and leader across the field of education and every parent and student who is passionate about the power of knowledge to transform people's lives It is a call for a debate about the growing impact of therapeutic education and what it means for learning now and in the future

Educating Children with Complex Conditions Winand H Dittrich, Rona Tutt, 2008-09-18 This is an important contribution to the field of SEN By putting the child into a context the authors recognize that each child is unique and cannot be reduced to a simple diagnosis Highly recommended SEN Magazine In just over 100 pages this book gives the clearest account I have yet read of overlapping and co existing conditions All professionals working with children with complex conditions will find it both interesting and practical Special The book is written in an easily digestible form and provides insight into overlapping conditions as well as advice on support to those working to meeting the needs of pupils with these complex disorders SNIP Many have tried but few have succeeded in bringing together the varying threads of special educational needs into a concise and proactive format I know having tried and failed myself Here at last Dittrich and Tutt have created a fascinating account of the current SEN world and have succeeded in my opinion in demystifying and explaining the significance of specific SEN terms while illustrating that overlap is more the norm than the exception Well researched and written with both clarity and experience the authors stress that there really is no such thing as a SEN child but that some children are in essence more interesting in their learning and behaviour style than others Fintan O Regan Author and Consultant There are growing numbers of children displaying the symptoms of more than one condition or disorder and this has led to those involved in education needing to understand which conditions commonly overlap or co exist and how to meet children s more complex needs By bringing together some of the latest research on how the brain learns with what is known about identifying developmental disorders that appear to have a common biological basis this book covers what is known about a common group of disorders including ADHD autistic spectrum disorders dyslexia dyscalculia and dyspraxia how to recognise when a child may have more than one condition what teaching approaches and strategies might be most relevant Written in a non technical style the book blends together scientific knowledge from different disciplines and translates it into practical terms for school leaders practitioners in the field of special educational needs and disabilities and students following courses in higher education
