High-Level Parallel Programming Models and Supportive Environments Frank Mueller, 2003-05-15 On the 23rd of April 2001 the 6th Workshop on High Level Parallel Programming Models and Supportive Environments LCTES 98 was held in San Francisco HIPShas been held over the past six years in conjunction with IPDPS the International Parallel and Distributed Processing Symposium The HIPSworkshop focuses on high level programming of networks of workstations computing clusters and of massively parallel machines Its goal is to bring together researchers working in the areas of applications language design compilers system architecture and programming tools to discuss new developments in programming such systems In recent years several standards have emerged with an increasing demand of support for parallel and distributed processing On one end message passing frameworks such as PVM MPI and VIA provide support for basic communication On the other hand distributed object standards such as CORBA and DCOM provide support for handling remote objects in a client server fashion but also ensure certain guarantees for the quality of services The key issues for the success of programming parallel and distributed environments are high level programming concepts and efficiency In addition other quality categories have to be taken into account such as scalability security bandwidth guarantees and fault tolerance just to name a few Today's challenge is to provide high level programming concepts without sacrificing efficiency This is only possible by carefully designing for those concepts and by providing supportive programming environments that facilitate program development and tuning
