Journalism Mass Communication Student Handbook:

Media Education Assessment Handbook William G. Christ, 2020-07-24 Assessing media education is a formidable task because both assessment and media education are complex and controversial concepts Assessment which can take place at the individual student class sequence program department or unit and university levels is questioned in terms of reliability validity relevance and cost Media education which has been challenged at a number of schools finds faculty and administrators in the midst of soul searching about how to clearly articulate its missions and purposes to a broader audience Departments are under increasing national state and institutional pressure to get assessment procedures carried out quickly but there is an obvious danger in rushing to implement assessment strategies before establishing what is essential in media education In communication education in general the what of assessment is often discussed in terms of skills attitudes affect values and knowledge People assess students to determine what they know think feel value and can do Here it is suggested that one of the places to start defining what students should learn from their media education is by identifying outcomes Outcomes can be assessed in a variety of ways but first they need to be developed and clearly articulated Resources in Education ,2001-04

Communicating Science Toss Gascoigne, Bernard Schiele, Joan Leach, Michelle Riedlinger, Luisa Massarani, Bruce V. Lewenstein, Peter Broks, 2020-09-14 Modern science communication has emerged in the twentieth century as a field of study a body of practice and a profession and it is a practice with deep historical roots We have seen the birth of interactive science centres the first university actions in teaching and conducting research and a sharp growth in employment of science communicators This collection charts the emergence of modern science communication across the world This is the first volume to map investment around the globe in science centres university courses and research publications and conferences as well as tell the national stories of science communication How did it all begin How has development varied from one country to another What motivated governments institutions and people to see science communication as an answer to questions of the social place of science Communicating Science describes the pathways followed by 39 different countries All continents and many cultures are represented For some countries this is the first time that their science communication story has been told Handbook Of Public Relations In India D. S. Mehta, 2011

Student Handbook Council of Europe, 1997 Exemplification in Communication Dolf Zillmann, Hans-Bernd Brosius, 2012-12-06 This volume offers a new conceptual framework for exemplification a coherent theoretical approach based on contemporary psychological models of information processing and an exhaustive integration of the pertinent research demonstrations Focus is on the news media but the influence of fiction and quasi fiction is also considered The informational competition between concrete verbal or pictorial exemplification and abstract mostly quantitative exposition is analyzed Implications for issue perception including delayed consequences are also examined Exemplification is subjected to conceptual scrutiny and a new theoretical framework is offered Contemporary psychological paradigms are applied to predict effects of various forms of exemplification Perhaps most important novel experimental research is presented to document the specific consequences of exemplifications featured in the news even of those featured in fiction Finally recommendations for information providers and recipients are derived from the research demonstration in order to advance media literacy specific to exemplification This unique volume provides a comprehensive account of the power of case report selection in the manipulation of perceptions of social issues addresses exemplification in communication i e the influence of case reports in the news media primarily on the perception of pertinent social issues offers an empirical assessment of the practice of issue exemplifying by the media gives an exhaustive account of representative research on exemplification effects on issue perception primarily by the news media but also by the entertainment media and includes a compilation of guidelines for information providers and recipients in efforts at creating media literacy with regard to exemplification

Doing Ethics in Media Jay Black, 2011-04-19 Doing Ethics in Media Theories and Practical Applications is an accessible comprehensive introduction to media ethics Its theoretical framework and grounded discussions engage students to think clearly and systematically about dilemmas in the rapidly changing media environment The 13 chapter text is organized around six decision making questions the 5Ws and H of media ethics The questions encourage students to articulate the issues apply codes policies or laws consider the needs of stakeholders sift and sort through conflicting values integrate philosophic principles and pose a test of publicity Specifically the questions ask What s your problem Why not follow the rules Who wins who loses What s it worth Who s whispering in your ear How s your decision going to look As they progress through the text students are encouraged to resolve dozens of practical applications and increasingly complex case studies relating to journalism new media advertising public relations and entertainment Other distinctive features include Comprehensive materials on classic moral theory and current issues such as truth telling and deception values persuasion and propaganda privacy diversity and loyalty A user friendly approach that challenges students to think for themselves rather than imposing answers on them Consistent connections between theories and the decision making challenges posed in the practical applications and case studies A companion website with online resources for students including additional readings and chapter overviews as well as instructor materials with a test bank instructor s manual sample syllabi and more www.routledge.com/textbooks/black A second website with continuously updated examples case studies and student writing www.doingmediaethics.com Doing Ethics in Media is aimed at undergraduates and graduate students studying media ethics in mass media journalism and media studies It also serves students in rhetoric popular culture communication studies and interdisciplinary social sciences

Public Relations Jacquie L'Etang, 2007-11-21 An excellent text for encouraging students to think critically about key public relations issues Not only does it help students to develop a deeper appreciation of public relations it also helps them to develop valuable learning skills Amanda Coady The Hague University A typically excellent piece of work from Jacquie L Etang Critical of every basic concept and provocative to all students Ideal for second and final year undergraduates plus MA students Chris Rushton Sunderland University Extending beyond the usual bounds of insularity this text is designed to encourage critical thought in students and improve practice in workplaces A refreshing read that is consistently inventive enough to attain both aims David McKie Waikato Management School At long last fills a void in the landscape of text books on public relations theory and practice it develops critical thinking skills while exposing interdisciplinary approaches and providing a very solid foundation for lively debate and further study Julia Jahansoozi University of Central Lancashire This book introduces students to the key concepts in Public Relations with 12 chapters providing clear and careful explanations of concepts such as Reputation Risk Impression management Celebrity Ethics Persuasion and propaganda Emotional and spiritual dimensions of management Promotional culture and globalization Drawing on a wide range of interdisciplinary sources Jacquie L Etang also encourages students to think critically about public relations as an occupation Student exercises critical reflections vignettes and discipline boxes help students to widen their intellectual perspective on the subject and to really engage the thinking that has shaped both the discipline and practice of public relations

Professionalizing Public Relations Kate Fitch, 2016-07-29 This groundbreaking study offers new insights into public relations history with a focus on the changing relationship between women and public relations the institutionalization of public relations education and the significance of globalization in Australia in the second half of the twentieth century Drawing on archival and interview research it reveals how the industry's professionalization led to the development of an occupational identity along national and gendered lines It also challenges common misconceptions around the origins of public relations and women's early contributions and careers Adopting a critical approach Professionalizing public relations avoids corporatist perspectives on the historical development of public relations by focusing on the processes of professionalization and their significance for gender and education and by situating this study in a broader global context The findings reveal dynamic and contested conceptualizations of public relations knowledge and expertise and the significance of historical processes for contemporary understandings of the industry
