Beyond the Troubled Water of Shifei Lin Ma, Jaap van Brakel, 2019-05-21 In recent decades a growing concern in studies in Chinese intellectual history is that Chinese classics have been forced into systems of classification prevalent in Western philosophy and thus imperceptibly transformed into examples that echo Western philosophy Lin Ma and Jaap van Brakel offer a methodology to counter this approach and illustrate their method by carrying out a transcultural inquiry into the complexities involved in understanding shi and fei and their cognate phrases in the Warring States texts the Zhuangzi in particular The authors discuss important features of Zhuangzi s stance with regard to language meaning knowledge doubt questioning equalizing and his well known deconstruction of the discourse in ancient China on shifei Ma and van Brakel suggest that shi and fei apply to both descriptive and prescriptive languages and do not presuppose any fact value dichotomy and thus cannot be translated as either true false or right wrong Instead shi and fei can be grasped in terms of a pre philosophical notion of fitting Ma and van Brakel also highlight Zhuangzi s idea of walking two roads as the most significant component of his stance In addition they argue that all of Zhuangzi s positive recommendations are presented in a language whose meaning is not fixed and that every stance he is committed to remains subject to fundamental questioning as a way of life

Fiction and Philosophy in the Zhuangzi Romain Graziani, 2021-01-14 Brimming with mythical imagination poetic sallies and often ferociously witty remarks the Zhuangzi is one of China s greatest literary and philosophical masterpieces Yet the complexities of this classical text can make it a challenging read This English translation leads you confidently through the comic scenes and virtuoso writing style introducing all the little stories Zhuangzi invented and unpicking its philosophical insights through close commentaries and helpful asides Romain Graziani opens up the text as never before showing how

Zhuangzi uses the stories as an answer to Mencius's conception of sacrifice and self cultivation restoring the critical interplay with Confucius Analects and guiding you through the themes of the animal world sacrifice political violence meditation illness and death In Graziani's translation the co founder of Taoism emerges as a remarkable thinker a dedicated disparager of moral virtues who stubbornly resists any form of allegiance to social norms and the only Warring States figure to improvise with the darkest irony on the weaknesses of men and their docile subservience to the unquestioned authority of language For anyone coming to Chinese philosophy or the Zhuangzi for the first time this introduction and translation is a must read one that reminds us of the importance of thinking beyond our limited everyday perspectives Ecologies in

Southeast Asian Literatures: Histories, Myths and Societies Chi P. Pham, Chitra Sankaran, Gurpreet Kaur, 2019-09-09 Ecocriticism in relation to the Southeast Asian region is relatively new So far John Charles Ryan's Ecocriticism in Southeast Asia is the first book of its kind to focus on the region and its literature to give an ecocritical analysis that volume compiles analyses of the eco literatures from most of the Southeast Asian region providing a broad insight into the ecological concerns of the region as depicted in its literatures and other cultural texts This edited volume furthers the study of Southeast Asian ecocriticism focusing specifically on prominent myths and histories and the myriad ways in which they connect to the social fabric of the region Our book is an original contribution to the expanding field of ecocriticism as it highlights the mytho historical basis of many of the region's literatures and their relationship to the environment The varied articles in this volume together explore the idea of nature and its relationship with humans The always problematic questions that surround such explorations such as why do we regard nature as external or how is humankind a continuum with nature emerge throughout the volume either overtly or implicitly As Pepper 1993 points out what Karl Marx referenced as first or external nature gave rise to humankind But humanity worked on this first nature to produce a second nature the material creations of society plus its institutions ideas and values Pepper 108 Thus our volume constantly negotiates this field of ideas and belief systems in diverse ways and in various cultures attempting to relate them to the current ecological predicaments of ASEAN It will likely prove an invaluable resource for scholars and students of ecocriticism and more broadly of Southeast Asian cultures and literatures

Creative Daoism Monica Esposito, 2015-09-09 Just as Christianity has its Vatican in Rome modern Daoism boasts of a unique center of religious authority and administration the Temple of the White Clouds Baiyun guan in Beijing seat of the general headquarters of the Chinese Daoist Association This temple complex in Beijing called by Dr Esposito modern Daoism's Vatican houses the grave of the mythical founder of Daoism's Quanzhen tradition and celebrates the patriarchs of its Longmen Dragon Gate branch as his legitimate heirs This book shows in detail how Daoist masters and historiographers in China much like their Catholic counterparts in Europe invented a glorious patriarchal lineage as well as a system of ordination designed to perpetuate orthodox transmission and central control They also created a kind of New Testament a new canonical collection of scriptures entitled The Gist of the Daoist Canon Daozang jiyao This ultimate canon of Daoism contains hundreds of texts including the Daoist classic The Secret of the Golden Flower which achieved fame through the commentary by Swiss psychologist Carl Gustav Jung. A classic study on the invention of religious traditions, the four parts of Creative Daoism describe the creation of the Daoist Vatican's Longmen lineage of patriarchs, system of ordination, canon of sacred scriptures and doctrine of universal salvation.

Of Tripod and Palate R. Sterckx, 2005-10-06. Attitudes toward food and commensality constituted a central fiber in the social, religious and political fabric of ancient Chinese society. The offering of sacrifices, the banqueting of guests and the ritual preparation, prohibition or consumption of food and drink were central elements in each of China's three main religious traditions: the Classicist Confucian tradition, religious Daoism and Buddhism. What links late Shang and Zhou bronze vessels to Buddhist dietary codes or Daoist recipes for immortality is a poignant testimony that culinary activity, fasting and feasting governed not only human relationships but also fermented the communication between humans and the spirit world. In Of Tripod and Palate, leading scholars examine the relationship between secular and religious food culture in ancient China from various perspectives.

Comparative Encounters Between Artaud, Michaux and the Zhuangzi Xiaofan Amy Li, 2017-12-02. The encounter between different minds and perspectives across time and space has always haunted the literary and philosophical imagination. Just such an encounter is staged and played out in this comparative study which connects the twentieth-century Francophone writers Antonin Artaud (1896-1948) and Henri Michaux (1899-1984) with the ancient Chinese text Zhuangzi (c. 4th-3rd century BCE). These disparate texts are bridged by questions that draw them into close dialogue: how can Artaud and Michaux, who read about and admired ancient Chinese literature and culture, be rethought through certain philosophical concerns that the Zhuangzi raises? If the points of conceptual intersection focus on rationality, cosmology and ethics, what can they tell us about these important issues? By imagining, constructing and developing this thought encounter, Li re-envisages Artaud, Michaux and the Zhuangzi through the kaleidoscope of comparative interpretation, juxtaposing and recombining ideas and contexts to form new patterns and meanings. Xiaofan Amy Li is Junior Research Fellow in Comparative Literature and Translation at St Anne's College, Oxford University.

Translation and Literature in East Asia Jieun Kiaer, Jennifer Guest, Xiaofan Amy Li, 2019-05-07. Translation and Literature in East Asia: Between Visibility and Invisibility explores the issues involved in translation between Chinese, Japanese and Korean as well as from these languages into European languages, with an eye to comparing the cultures of translation within East Asia and tracking some of their complex interrelationships. This book reasserts the need for a paradigm shift in translation theory that looks beyond European languages and furthers existing work in this field by encompassing a wider range of literature and scholarship in East Asia. Translation and Literature in East Asia brings together material dedicated to the theory and practice of translation between and from East Asian languages for the first time.

China Imagined Gregory Lee, 2018-12-15. How did China become China? And where is it leading us? We talk as if it had always existed: eternal China with its 5,000 years of uninterrupted history. But the name China was first used by sixteenth century Europeans and its Chinese equivalent Zhongguo only gained currency in the mid 1800s China Imagined is a thoughtful exploration of the idea of China from the naming and mapping of its territory and peoples to the creation and rise of the modern nation state China's early history describes a multilingual space ruled by a homogeneous elite with its own minority culture a far cry from Maoism's national mass culture or Xi Jinping's state controlled digital society today Gregory Lee traces this complex diverse entity's evolution since the Opium Wars into a China made in our image Today it is a great power integral to the global system whether it comes to climate change security or inequality Given this rapid convergence with the West Xi's China holds up a mirror to our own nations Trump's America Putin's Russia and post Brexit Europe all betray echoes of the Chinese Dream If China is a product of Westernization is it now the West's turn to become China
