

S: Fatigue x 2 weeks

This is the first clinic visit for this 28-year-old outdoor enthusiast who presents to the clinic complaining of right knee pain of 6 hours duration. Mr. Bartlett was in his usual state of good health until two weeks ago when he began suffering from generalized malaise and fatigue that precluded him from carrying out his normal walking routine. Upon awaking this AM his right knee was swollen, stiff and tender with a mild amount of redness noted. He rates the pain as a 6/10 with 10 being a fx clavicle. He also noted the appearance of a rash on his lower abdomen, 2 days after a camping trip to a Lyme endemic area of NC PA, that began on his abdomen, expanded over two days and gradually disappeared. The fatigue and malaise started around this same time. He states that the fatigue and malaise over the past two weeks have been accompanied by a mild headache and stiff neck. He denies fever, chills, sweats, night sweats, or weight loss. He also denies previous knee injury or pain or any other joint symptoms. Denies eye irritation, swollen glands, heart palpitations, syncope, peripheral paresthesias, abdominal pain, N/V/D, dysuria or penile discharge.

PMH: Denies CAD, HTN, DM, CVA

SH: He is very vague when questioned about his sexual history but states he has been involved in a monogamous relationship over the past 5 years.

Denies history of IV drug abuse.

Classroom Joanna C. Weaver, Cynthia D. Bertelsen, 2024-10-16 This resource offers teachers a simple framework to seamlessly add reflective practice to their day and encourages educators to critically reflect on instructional planning and practice. Commonly used in other busy professions, the SOAP Notes structure makes it easy to reflect on student progress through any lesson or learning activity regardless of grade band or content area. Each category: Subjective Observation, Assessment, and Planning allows for documentation of obstacles, difficulties, or challenges within a lesson so educators can address these concerns in subsequent lessons. Each chapter features an in-service teacher who used SOAP Notes reflections in their classrooms to improve their instruction and student learning. Contributors are from diverse teaching backgrounds, schools, and student populations. The authors include instructions for using the template in a variety of scenarios, blank worksheets, completed SOAP examples, and important take-aways. Whether there is an hour or only minutes in the day to focus on reflective practice, these teachers demonstrate how this framework makes this activity possible in any classroom. Ideal for preservice and in-service teachers, administrators, and other education professionals across K-12 settings, this accessible read demonstrates the ease of reflective practice while celebrating teacher voices. This simple structure makes adding reflection and intention to teachers' routine immediately doable. Resources in Education, 1992-04

Professional Issues in Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology, Sixth Edition Melanie W. Hudson, Mark DeRuiter, 2023-10-06 This sixth edition of Professional Issues in Speech Language Pathology and Audiology is intended to be a primary text for students in speech language pathology and audiology as well as a resource for practitioners providing a comprehensive introduction to contemporary issues that affect these professions and service delivery across settings. It aims to provide a better understanding of day-to-day clinical work as well as personal professional growth and development, which are influenced by political, social, educational, health care, and economic concerns. By instilling a big picture view of the profession, future clinicians will be more prepared to make informed decisions as they provide services, engage in advocacy efforts, and plan their careers as audiologists or speech language pathologists. The book is divided into four major sections: Overview of the Professions, Employment Issues, Setting Specific Issues, and Working Productively. The information presented in each section provides the reader with a better understanding and a new perspective on how professional issues have been affected by both internal and external influences in recent years, including technological advances, demographic shifts, globalization, and economic factors. Chapter authors are recognized subject matter experts providing a blend of both foundational and cutting-edge information in areas such as evidence-based practice, ethics, job searching, and employment issues, interprofessional practice, service delivery in health care and education, technology, cultural competence, supervision, and leadership. Students reading this book will appreciate how the professions have evolved over time while acquiring a sense of where they are right now as they prepare to enter the professional world. Each of the topics covered in the book will continue to play important roles in the future of speech language pathology and audiology, providing early career professionals with the requisite knowledge to achieve success in any setting New to the Sixth Edition New information on issues related to the COVID 19 pandemic Coverage of recent changes in technology Updates to ASHA certification requirements the Assistants certification program and the 2023 ASHA Code of Ethics New contributors Nicole E Corbin Sandra Liang Gillam Erin E G Lundblom Christine T Matthews Shari Robertson Rachel A Ritter and Jennifer P Taylor Updated list of acronyms used in the book Key Features Chapters authored by recognized experts in communication sciences and disorders Each chapter begins with an introduction and ends with a summary of key areas Critical Thinking questions for each chapter accessible online Case studies related to child and elder abuse Case studies related to advocacy Please note that ancillary content such as documents audio and video etc may not be included as published in the original print version of this book

Learning Disability and Inclusion Phobia C. F. Goodey, 2015-10-05 The social position of learning disabled people has shifted rapidly over the last 20 years from long stay institutions first into community homes and day centres and now to a currently emerging goal of ordinary lives for individuals using person centred support and personal budgets These approaches promise to replace a century and a half of scientific pathological models based on expert assessment and of the accompanying segregated social administration which determined how and where people led their lives and who they were This innovative volume explains how concepts of learning disability intellectual disability and autism first came about describes their more recent evolution in the formal disciplines of psychology and shows the direct relevance of this historical knowledge to present and future policy practice and research Goodey argues that learning disability is not a historically stable category and different people are considered learning disabled as it changes over time Using psychological and anthropological theory he identifies the deeper lying pathology as inclusion phobia in which the tendency of human societies to establish an in group and to assign out groups reaches an extreme point Thus the disability we call intellectual is a concept essential only to an era in which to be human is essentially to be deemed intelligent autonomous and capable of rational choice Interweaving the author's historical scholarship with his practice based experience in the field Learning Disability and Inclusion Phobia challenges myths about the past as well as about present day concepts exposing both the historical continuities and the radical discontinuities in thinking about learning disability
