L2 Spanish and Italian intonation Andrea Pešková, 2023-10-31 The main aim of this book is to contribute to our understanding of the acquisition of second language intonation by comparing

Czech learners of Spanish with German learners of Spanish and Czech learners of Italian By means of a large production database the study seeks to uncover how L1 to L2 intonational transfer works and what role prosodic dis similarities between languages play Contrary to most previous research the work presents an original multidirectional cross linguistic comparison and examines different types of sentence such as neutral and non neutral statements yes no questions wh questions exclamatives and vocatives The findings reveal positive and negative transfer from L1 to L2 and the formation of mixed patterns as well as native like patterns which are mainly constrained by linguistic factors such as the type of sentence and the position of the tonal event in the utterance The results are discussed within Mennen s 2015 L2 Intonation Learning theory and lead to the formulation of a Developmental L2 Intonation Hypothesis that makes several generalizations to characterize interlanguage intonation This volume not only represents a step forward in the study of the acquisition of L2 intonation in general but also offers valuable findings that can be directly or indirectly applied in the classroom and will hopefully inspire further research Bioacoustics ,2009

The Evolution of Rhythm Cognition: Timing in Music and Speech Andrea Ravignani,Henkjan Honing,Sonja A. Kotz,2018-07-24 Human speech and music share a number of similarities and differences One of the closest similarities is their temporal nature as both i develop over time ii form sequences of temporal intervals possibly differing in duration and acoustical marking by different spectral properties which are perceived as a rhythm and iii generate metrical expectations Human brains are particularly efficient in perceiving producing and processing fine rhythmic information in music and speech However a number of critical questions remain to be answered Where does this human sensitivity for rhythm arise How did rhythm cognition develop in human evolution How did environmental rhythms affect the evolution of brain rhythms Which rhythm specific neural circuits are shared between speech and music or even with other domains Evolutionary processes long time scales often prevent direct observation understanding the psychology of rhythm and its evolution requires a close fitting integration of different perspectives First empirical observations of music and speech in the field are contrasted and generate testable hypotheses Experiments exploring linguistic and musical rhythm are performed across sensory modalities ages and animal species to address questions about domain specificity development and an evolutionary path of rhythm Finally experimental insights are integrated via synthetic modeling generating testable predictions about brain oscillations underlying rhythm cognition and its evolution Our understanding of the cognitive neurobiological and evolutionary bases of rhythm is rapidly increasing However researchers in different fields often work on parallel potentially converging strands with little mutual awareness This research topic builds a bridge across several disciplines focusing on the cognitive neuroscience of rhythm as an evolutionary process It includes contributions encompassing although not limited to 1 developmental and comparative studies of rhythm e g critical acquisition periods innateness 2 evidence of rhythmic behavior in other species both spontaneous and in controlled experiments 3 comparisons of rhythm processing in music and speech e g behavioral experiments systems neuroscience perspectives on music speech networks 4 evidence on rhythm processing across modalities and domains 5 studies on rhythm in interaction and context social affective etc 6 mathematical and computational e g connectionist symbolic models of rhythmicity as an evolved behavior Interfaces in Chinese Phonology Yuchau E.
