Shooting Script Bill Tremblay,2003 Bill Tremblay s Shooting Script Door of Fire is unlike any collection of poems previously published In it voice becomes camera to reveal the smoky world of Diego Rivera s Mexico with its erotic and political tensions brightly drawn as background for a dance macabre involving among others Leon Trotsky Rivera the actress Paulette Goddard

Surrealist kingpin Andre Breton and Rivera's strange and beautiful wife Frida Kahlo. The lens of Tremblay's attention follows these characters as they circle inside their mortal questions, failings, and desires, never quite touching or saying as they intend, but always somehow working toward an integration of the personal, political, and esthetic obsessions that drive them on.

The Drug Problem Martin Levinson, 2002-08-30. Current approaches to the drug problem are not working, and almost everyone agrees that more effective solutions are needed. This comprehensive volume offers a dynamic new approach to understanding and solving the drug problem. This text applies the techniques and formulations of general semantics to investigate and make recommendations about various aspects of drug abuse. General semantics, a process problem-solving approach based on the primacy of the scientific method and importance of language as a shaper of thoughts and perceptions, has a proven record of success in problem solving across a wide variety of disciplines and fields. Topics examined include American drug history and policy, the legalization issue, drugs and creativity, treatment and prevention. A chronological overview of drug taking in human history and a resource guide are provided. One chapter offers an in-depth description of an effective drug abuse prevention model and a program using the model.

Students at the Center Bena Kallick, Allison Zmuda, 2017-01-30. Educators' most important work is to help students develop the intellectual and social strength of character necessary to live well in the world. The way to do this, argue authors Bena Kallick and Allison Zmuda, is to increase the say students have in their own learning and prepare them to navigate complexities they face both inside and beyond school. This means rethinking traditional teacher and student roles and re-examining goal setting, lesson planning, assessment, and feedback practices. It means establishing classrooms that prioritize voice, involving students in the what and the how of learning, and equipping them to be stewards of their own education. Co-creation: Guiding students to identify the challenges and concepts they want to explore and outline the actions they will take. Social construction: Having students work with others to theorize, pursue common goals, build products, and generate performances. Self-discovery: Teaching students to reflect on their own developing skills and knowledge so that they will acquire new understandings of themselves and how they learn. Based on their exciting work in the field, Kallick and Zmuda map out a transformative model of personalization that puts students at the center and asks them to employ the set of dispositions for engagement and learning known as the Habits of Mind. They share the perspectives of educators engaged in this work, highlight the habits that empower students to pursue aspirations, investigate problems, design solutions, chase curiosities, and create performances, and provide tools and recommendations for adjusting classroom practices to facilitate learning that is self-directed, dynamic, sometimes messy, and always meaningful.
