Pach, 2009-08-31 Recent spectacular achievements in wireless mobile and sensor networks have dramatically changed our lives in many ways However the rapid evolution of wireless systems not only promises increased functionality reliability availability and security as well as putting a wide variety of new services at the users disposal it also creates a number of design challenges that our research community is now facing Scientists and engineers need to come up with and promptly implement novel wireless network architectures while system operators and planners rethink their business models and attend to the growing expectations of their customer base To provide a suitable forum for discussion between researchers practitioners and industry representatives interested in new developments in the respective research area IFIP WG 6.8 launched three separate series of conferences MWCN Mobile and Wireless Communications Networks PWC Personal Wireless Communications and WSAN Wireless Sensor and Actors Networks In 2008 MWCN and PWC were merged into the IFIP Wireless and Mobile Networking Conference WMNC 2008 held in Toulouse France from September 30 to October 2 2008 WMNC 2008 and PWC 2008 topics were subsequently revised with a view to covering the whole spectrum of hot issues in wireless and mobile networking As a result IFIP WG 6.8 decided to add WSAN as another WMNC track      Computational Collective Intelligence. Semantic Web, Social Networks and Multiagent Systems Ryszard Kowalczyk, 2009-09-23 Computational collective intelligence CCI is most often understood as a subfield of artificial intelligence AI dealing with soft computing methods that enable group decisions to be made or knowledge to be processed among autonomous units acting in distributed environments The needs for CCI techniques and tools have grown significantly recently as many information systems work in distributed environments and use distributed resources Web based systems social networks and multi agent systems very often need these tools for working out consistent knowledge states resolving conflicts and making decisions Therefore CCI is of great importance for today s and future distributed systems Methodological theoretical and practical aspects of computational collective intelligence such as group decision making collective action coordination and knowledge integration are considered as the form of intelligence that emerges from the collaboration and competition of many individuals artificial and or natural The application of multiple computational intelligence technologies such as fuzzy systems evolutionary computation neural systems consensus theory etc can support human and other collective intelligence and create new forms of CCI in natural and or artificial systems

Mobile Lightweight Wireless Systems Fabrizio Granelli, Charalabos Skianis, Yang Xiao, Simone Redana, 2009-08-10 The First International Conference on Mobile Lightweight Systems MOBILIGHT was held in Athens during May 18 20 2009 The decision to organize a scientific event on wireless communications where competition is really enormous was motivated by discussions with some colleagues about the current unprecedented request for lightweight wireless communication devices with high usability and performance able to support added value services in a highly mobile environment Such devices follow the user everywhere he she goes at work at home while travelling in a classroom etc but also result in exciting search development and business opportunities Such a scenario clearly demands significant upgrades to the existing communication paradigm in terms of infrastructure devices and services to support the anytime anywhere any device philosophy introducing novel and fast evolving requirements and expectations on research and development in the field of information and communication technologies The core issue is to support the desire of wireless users to have 24 7 network availability and transparent access to their own services
