Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 2012 Language Debates Various, 2021-11-25 This book captures an urgent moment for language teaching learning and research At its core are a series of debates concerning gender stereotyping the place of linguistics in modern languages language activism multilingualism and modern languages and digital humanities Taken together these debates explore the work that languages and that those who learn and speak them do in the world as well as the way we think through and in a language and are shaped by it Language Debates acknowledges the history of language teaching and the current realities of language teaching and learning It is bold in suggesting ways forward for reform and for policy setting languages and language learning at the heart of a consciously transformative set of goals This book is therefore essential reading for academics language teachers policy makers students activists and those passionate about progressing language learning and teaching The editors and contributors make up a multilingual and multicultural team who work across languages cultures and borders with a globally informed approach to their work Uniquely the debates in this volume are based on events with participants in the Language Acts and Worldmaking Debates Series and or workshops within the wider research project and take into account the ensuing discussions there Each debate is accompanied by an interview which serves as a model on how to continue the conversation beyond the printed pages of the book You can also discover ways to join the debate through links on the Language Acts and Worldmaking series website www.jmlanguages.com/languageacts which includes recorded debates additional materials and more information about the series Like all the volumes in the Language Acts and Worldmaking series the overall aim is two fold to challenge widely held views about language learning as a neutral instrument of globalisation and to innovate and transform language research teaching and learning together with Modern Languages as an academic discipline by foregrounding its unique form of cognition and critical engagement Specific aims are to propose new ways of bridging the gaps between those who teach and research languages and those who learn and use them in everyday contexts from the professional to the personal put research into the hands of wider audiences share a philosophy policy and practice of language teaching and learning which turns research into action provide the research experience and data to enable informed debates on current issues and attitudes in language learning teaching and research share knowledge across and within all levels and experiences of language learning and teaching showcase exciting new work that derives from different types of community activity and is of practical relevance to its audiences disseminate new research in languages that engages with diverse communities of language practitioners From GCSEs to EBCs Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Education Committee, 2013 The Government s plans for replacing GCSEs with new English Baccalaureate

Certificates in some subjects is trying to do too much too fast Introducing several fundamental changes at the same time and to a tight timetable will jeopardise the quality of the reforms and may threaten the stability of the wider exam system GCSEs need significant improvements in order to restore public confidence in the exam system but the Government still needs to make the case that the GCSE brand is so discredited that it is beyond repair MPs are also concerned about the impact of the changes on subjects outside the English Baccalaureate where students will be taking GCSEs for some time to come according to the Government's plans The report also questions how well the Government's proposals will serve lower attaining pupils who are often the most disadvantaged There is no evidence that the proposed changes will help to tackle under achievement or narrow the attainment gap between the richest and poorest students any more effectively than GCSEs The Government is also called upon to re think its plans for a Statement of Achievement specifically for lower attaining pupils MPs agree that changes are needed to the way in which exams are run but they raise serious concerns about franchising subjects to exam boards The report is critical of the Government's decision to abolish some GCSEs before publishing the outcomes of the National Curriculum Review and its proposed changes to the school accountability system MPs also note the wide ranging stakeholder opposition to many of the Government's proposals
