Tax avoidance - Google Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee

of Public Accounts,2013-06-13 Google generates enormous profits in the UK But despite an 18 billion turnover between 2006 and 2011 it paid the equivalent of just 16 million in taxes to the UK government Google brazenly argues that its tax arrangements in the UK are defensible and lawful It claimed that its advertising sales take place in Ireland not in the UK This argument is deeply unconvincing and has been undermined by information from whistleblowers including ex employees of Google Google also conceded that its engineers in the UK are contributing to product development The company s highly contrived tax arrangement has no purpose other than to enable the company to avoid UK corporation tax Google s reputation has been damaged by these revelations of aggressive tax avoidance That damage will not be repaired until the company arranges to pay its fair share of tax in the country where it earns the profits from the business it conducts Confidence in HMRC has also been weakened The tax avoidance activities of multinational companies as a whole are illustrative of a much wider problem The Government clearly needs to act to strengthen HMRC and to simplify the tax code so that there are fewer loopholes The Government has declared that it will use its presidency of the G8 to promote the tackling of aggressive tax avoidance It must be recognized that the public mood on tax avoidance has changed and that the time has come for big UK accountancy firms to advise their clients responsibly
