Advances in Information Retrieval Center for Intelligent Information Retrieval, 2000-04-30 The NSF Center for Intelligent Information Retrieval CIIR was formed in the Computer Science Department of the University of Massachusetts Amherst in 1992 Through its efforts in basic research applied research and technology transfer the CIIR has become known internationally as one of the leading research groups in the area of information retrieval The CIIR focuses on research that results in more effective and efficient access and discovery in large heterogeneous distributed text and multimedia databases The scope of the work that is done in the CIIR is broad and goes significantly beyond traditional areas of information retrieval such as retrieval models cross lingual search and automatic query expansion The research includes both low level systems issues such as the design of protocols and architectures for distributed search as well as more human centered topics such as user interface design visualization and data mining with text and multimedia retrieval Advances in Information Retrieval Recent Research from the Center for Intelligent Information Retrieval is a collection of papers that covers a wide variety of topics in the general area of information retrieval Together they represent a snapshot of the state of the art in information retrieval at the turn of the century and at the end of a decade that has seen the advent of the World Wide Web The papers provide overviews and in depth analysis of theory and experimental results This book can be used as source material for graduate courses in information retrieval and as a reference for researchers and practitioners in industry

Fundamentals of Information Systems Interoperability Stefanie Rinderle-Ma, Jürgen Mangler, Daniel Ritter, 2024-04-18 This book presents fundamental concepts and technologies to tackle interoperability between information systems It details interoperability at the data service and process level and combines theoretical foundations with hands on presentation of technologies to enable the development of sound and practical integration Chapter 1 details general interoperability challenges and describes the structure of the book To start with Chapter 2 presents technologies for the exchange of data between two selected and highly relevant data formats i.e. relational databases and XML Next Chapter 3 explains concepts for schema matching and mapping and data integration as well as the technological basis for implementing them based on query and transformation languages like XPath and XSLT Chapter 4 then turns to service interoperability and explains two related technologies REST and GraphQL in detail In Chapter 5 fundamentals for designing process orchestrations at the conceptual level are presented focusing on how to model process orchestrations and how to verify their correctness and soundness and showing BPMN as the de facto modeling standard Chapter 6 then details the concepts and languages for the implementation of process orchestrations including the presentation of execution languages for process orchestrations that are equipped with a formal semantics e.g. Workflow Nets the Refined Process Structure Tree and CPEE Trees Subsequently Chapter 7 focuses on the growing number of distributed loosely coupled and often non interoperable applications through the concepts of enterprise application integration and explains these by an implementation in CPN Tools and by two case studies Eventually Chapter 8 is lifting the orchestration and integration concepts and technologies to the choreography level by dealing with the interoperability between different process orchestrations Chapter 9 concludes the book by featuring success factors for interoperability projects It also provides a range of open research directions for interoperability such as compliance sensor fusion and blockchain technologies The book is mainly intended as a textbook to be used for developing and teaching courses on interoperability and integration To this end it is accompanied by a Web site with additional teaching materials It also spans a bridge from researchers to graduate students and practitioners by providing a deep understanding on practical interoperability challenges and solutions The focus here is put on de facto standards and open source systems and tools to enable interoperability solutions at low cost
