

Topic 1.5.1. Supplemental Practice Exam questions with correct answers

Exercise 1 – Language Change and Language Acquisition Research

Language (10%) – The 1990s saw a resurgence of historical linguistics and a renewed interest and commitment to the English language. However:

1. What are the following is most important for effective second language acquisition?

a) Morphology, phonology and sociological interaction.

b) Morphology and practicing frequently used words and phrases.

c) Learning primarily with the mother and other adults.

d) Learning with native speakers and not children. Answer: c) Option c is correct because second language acquisitionists have widely and consistently demonstrated that young children, especially between ages 3 and 5, learn a second language most easily and quickly. Option a is incorrect because morphology, phonology and sociological interaction are all important for effective second language acquisition. Option b is incorrect because while practicing with words and phrases is important for second language acquisition, it is not the most important factor. Option d is incorrect because while learning with native speakers is important, it is not the most important factor. Learning primarily with the mother and other adults is the most effective way to learn a second language.

2. What are the following statements accurately described? Answer: c) Answer: c) Answer: c)

3. EFL refers to requirements and standards for language learning and teaching in the classroom.
