Reading Sounds Sean Zdenek, 2015-12-23 Imagine a common movie scene a hero confronts a villain Captioning such a moment would at first glance seem as basic as transcribing the dialogue But consider the choices involved How do you convey the sarcasm in a comeback Do you include a henchman s muttering in the background Does the villain emit a scream a grunt or a howl as he goes down And how do you note a gunshot without spoiling the scene These are the choices closed captioners face every day Captioners must decide whether and how to describe background noises accents

laughter musical cues and even silences When captioners describe a sound or choose to ignore it they are applying their own subjective interpretations to otherwise objective noises creating meaning that does not necessarily exist in the soundtrack or the script Reading Sounds looks at closed captioning as a potent source of meaning in rhetorical analysis Through nine engrossing chapters Sean Zdenek demonstrates how the choices captioners make affect the way deaf and hard of hearing viewers experience media He draws on hundreds of real life examples as well as interviews with both professional captioners and regular viewers of closed captioning Zdenek s analysis is an engrossing look at how we make the audible visible one that proves that better standards for closed captioning create a better entertainment experience for all viewers Relevance and Text-on-Screen in Audiovisual Translation Ryoko Sasamoto,2024-05-29 This book examines audiovisual translation AVT practices that fall outside conventional AVT norms drawing on work from relevance theory to highlight alternative perspectives and make the case for a multidisciplinary approach to AVT The volume focuses on creative subtitling otherwise known as text on screen through the lens of relevance theory a cognitively grounded theory of communication Sasamoto explores the ways in which a relevance theoretic approach can provide an analytical framework for a better understanding of the interaction between text on screen and viewers interpretation processes and in turn how media producers professional or otherwise use text on screen to engage viewers in innovative ways The volume looks at such forms as telop creative text use on screen and forms of user generated text on screen The book introduces a new dimension to work on cognitive pragmatics and the wider applications of relevance theory in multimodal communication and AVT making it of interest to scholars in these disciplines
