

- The angle of the sun's rays is smaller further away from the equator. The same amount of sun rays must heat a greater area = lower temperatures.

2. DISTANCE FROM THE SEA

Air takes on the properties of the land it is sitting on.

- ✓ Warm sea or land => air on top of the warm surface will be warm.
- ✓ Cold sea or land => air on top of the cold surface will be cold.

What is the reason for a decrease in temperature with an increase in altitude?

- Heat from the sun is called solar radiation.
- Solar radiation travels as short waves through the atmosphere without heating the atmosphere.
- These short waves are absorbed by earth's surface and radiated as long waves that heat the air above.

Grade8 Social Sciences Geography Memorandum December 2014:

Horses, Power and Place Neil Ward, 2023-12-05 Horses Power and Place explores the evolution of humanity's relationship with horses from early domestication through to the use of the horse as a draught animal, an agricultural, industrial and military asset and an animal of sport and leisure. Taking an historical approach and using Britain as a case study, this is the first book-length exploration of the horse in the more than human geography of a nation. It traces the role and implications of horse-based mobility for the evolution of settlement structure, urban morphology and the rural landscape. It maps the growth and various uses of horses to the point of peak horse in the early twentieth century before considering the contemporary place of the horse in twenty-first century economy and society. It assesses the role of the horse in the formation of places within Britain and in the formation of the nation. The book reflects on the implications of this historical and contemporary equine geography for animal geographies and animal studies. It argues for the study of animals in general in how places are made, not just by humans. Written in a clear and accessible style, this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of animal geography and animal studies more widely.

The Routledge Handbook of Henri Lefebvre, The City and Urban Society Michael E. Leary-Owhin, John P. McCarthy, 2019-11-21 The Routledge Handbook of Henri Lefebvre, The City and Urban Society is the first edited book to focus on Lefebvre's urban theories and ideas from a global perspective, making use of recent theoretical and empirical developments with contributions from eminent as well as emergent global scholars. The book provides international comparison of Lefebvrian research and theoretical conjecture and aims to engage with and critique Lefebvre's ideas in the context of contemporary urban social and environmental upheavals. To use Lefebvre's spatial triad as a research tool as well as a point of departure for the adoption of ideas such as differential space to reassess Lefebvre's ideas in relation to nature and global environmental sustainability and to highlight how a Lefebvrian approach might assist in mobilising resistance to the excesses of globalised neoliberal urbanism. The volume draws inspiration from Lefebvre's key texts The Production of Space, Critique of Everyday Life and The Urban Revolution and includes a comprehensive introduction and concluding chapter by the editors. The conclusions highlight implications in relation to increasing spatial inequalities, increasing diversity of needs, including those of migrants, more authoritarian approaches and asymmetries of access to urban space. Above all, the book illustrates the continuing relevance of Lefebvre's ideas for contemporary urban issues and shows, via global case studies, how resistance to spatial domination by powerful interests might be achieved. The Handbook helps the reader navigate the complex terrain of spatial research inspired by Lefebvre. In particular, the Handbook focuses on the series of struggles globally for the right to the city and the collision of debates around the urban age, cityism and planetary urbanisation. It will be a guide for graduate and advanced undergraduate teaching and a key reference for academics in the fields of Human Geography, Sociology, Political Science, Applied Philosophy, Planning, Urban Theory and Urban Studies. Practitioners and activists in the field will also find the book of relevance. Life in the Age of Drone Warfare Lisa Parks, Caren Kaplan, 2017-10-19 This volume's contributors offer a new critical language through which to explore and assess the historical juridical geopolitical and cultural dimensions of drone technology and warfare. They show how drones generate particular ways of visualizing the spaces and targets of war while acting as tools to exercise state power. Essays include discussions of the legal justifications of extrajudicial killings and how US drone strikes in the Horn of Africa impact life on the ground as well as a personal narrative of a former drone operator. The contributors also explore drone warfare in relation to sovereignty governance and social difference provide accounts of the relationships between drone technologies and modes of perception and mediation and theorize drones relation to biopolitics robotics automation and art. Interdisciplinary and timely Life in the Age of Drone Warfare extends the critical study of drones while expanding the public discussion of one of our era's most ubiquitous instruments of war. Contributors Peter Asaro Brandon Wayne Bryant Katherine Chandler Jordan Crandall Ricardo Dominguez Derek Gregory Inderpal Grewal Lisa Hajjar Caren Kaplan Andrea Miller Anjali Nath Jeremy Packer Lisa Parks Joshua Reeves Thomas Stubblefield Madiha Tahir The Routledge Handbook on Crime and International Migration Sharon Pickering, Julie Ham, 2017-07-14 The Routledge Handbook on Crime and International Migration is concerned with the various relationships between migration crime and victimization that have informed a wide criminological scholarship often driven by some of the original lines of inquiry of the Chicago School. Historically migration and crime came to be the device by which Criminology and cognate fields sought to tackle issues of race and ethnicity often in highly problematic ways. However in the contemporary period this body of scholarship is inspiring scholars to produce significant evidence that speaks to some of the biggest public policy questions and debunks many dominant mythologies around the criminality of migrants. The Routledge Handbook on Crime and International Migration is also concerned with the theoretical empirical and policy knots found in the relationship between regular and irregular migration offending and victimization the processes and impact of criminalization and the changing role of criminal justice systems in the regulation and enforcement of international mobility and borders. The Handbook is focused on the migratory fault lines between the Global North and Global South which have produced new or accelerated sites of state control constructed irregular migration as a crime and security problem and mobilized ideological and coercive powers usually reserved for criminal or military threats. Offering a strong international focus and comprehensive coverage of a wide range of border criminal justice and migration related issues this book is an important contribution to criminology and migration studies and will be essential reading for academics students and practitioners interested in this field. Work and Livelihoods Susana Narotzky, Victoria Goddard, 2016-12-01 Winner of the Society for the Anthropology of Work book prize 2017 This volume presents a global range of ethnographic case studies to explore the ways in which in the context of the restructuring of industrial work the ongoing financial crisis and the surge in unemployment and precarious employment local and global actors engage with complex social processes and devise ideological political and economic responses to them.

It shows how the reorganization and re signification of work notably shifts in the perception and valorization of work affect domestic and community arrangements and shape the conditions of life of workers and their families Toxic

Communities Dorceta Taylor, 2014-06-20 Uncovers the systemic problems that expose poor communities to environmental hazards From St Louis to New Orleans from Baltimore to Oklahoma City there are poor and minority neighborhoods so beset by pollution that just living in them can be hazardous to your health Due to entrenched segregation zoning ordinances that privilege wealthier communities or because businesses have found the paths of least resistance there are many hazardous waste and toxic facilities in these communities leading residents to experience health and wellness problems on top of the race and class discrimination most already experience Taking stock of the recent environmental justice scholarship Toxic Communities examines the connections among residential segregation zoning and exposure to environmental hazards Renowned environmental sociologist Dorceta Taylor focuses on the locations of hazardous facilities in low income and minority communities and shows how they have been dumped on contaminated and exposed Drawing on an array of historical and contemporary case studies from across the country Taylor explores controversies over racially motivated decisions in zoning laws eminent domain government regulation or lack thereof and urban renewal She provides a comprehensive overview of the debate over whether or not there is a link between environmental transgressions and discrimination drawing a clear picture of the state of the environmental justice field today and where it is going In doing so she introduces new concepts and theories for understanding environmental racism that will be essential for environmental justice scholars A fascinating landmark study Toxic Communities greatly contributes to the study of race the environment and space in the contemporary United States Suspect Race Jack Glaser, 2014-11-07 Until now most discussion of racial profiling has given only fleeting consideration of its causes Those causes are overwhelmingly psychological In Suspect Race social psychologist and public policy expert Jack Glaser leverages a century s worth of social psychological research to provide a clear understanding of how stereotypes even those operating outside of conscious awareness or control can cause police to make discriminatory judgments and decisions about who to suspect stop question search use force on and arrest Glaser argues that stereotyping even nonconscious stereotyping is a completely normal human mental process but that it leads to undesirable discriminatory outcomes Police officers are normal human beings with normal cognition They are therefore influenced by racial stereotypes that have long connected minorities with aggression and crime Efforts to merely prohibit racial profiling are inadequate Additionally Glaser finds evidence that racial profiling can actually increase crime and he considers the implications for racial profiling in counterterrorism finding some similarities and some interesting differences with drug war profiling Finally he examines the policy landscape on which racial profiling resides and calls for improved data collection and supervision reduced discretion and increased accountability Drawing on criminology history psychological science and legal and policy analysis Glaser offers a broad and deep assessment of the causes and consequence of racial profiling Suspect Race brings to bear the vast scientific literature on intergroup stereotyping to offer the first in depth and accessible understanding of the primary cause of racial profiling and to explore implications for policy

Another Modernism Anna Myjak-Pycia,2025-06-12 Filling an important gap in design history Another Modernism examines how domestic space was conceived by the US home economics movement in the first half of the 20th century In doing so it tells the story of how home economists mainly women developed design that challenged the traditional architecture of American farm communities and countered the approach of modernist architects Uncovering unacknowledged contributions of women to domestic architecture and design history it reveals early instances of participation sustainability and accommodating the disabled body in domestic design In contrast to the canonical modernist model of space which is primarily visual home economists centered on a user who interacts with the interior in a tactile bodily way Although both strove for efficiency they understood it differently whereas for many of the mainstream modernists the term efficiency meant functionalist aesthetics for home economists it signified design solutions intended to ease the labor of an average American homemaker The book argues that the home economists focus on tactility the user s corporeality movement access preferences and her engagement in the design process constituted an alternative model of modern architecture a popular and largely rural modernism centered on the specificity of the female user and her personal experience of the domestic interior Based on little known archival material and with an emphasis on mostly female researchers designers and users occupants Another Modernism will appeal to architects design historians and anyone interested in gender women s and disability studies as well as non visual approaches to design Dictionary Catalog of the Research Libraries of the New York Public Library, 1911-1971 New York Public Library.
