China's Evolving Industrial Policies and Economic Restructuring Zheng Yongnian, Sarah Y. Tong, 2014-07-11 In the past three decades China has successfully transformed itself from an extremely poor economy to the world s second largest economy The country s phenomenal economic growth has been sustained primarily by its rapid and continuous industrialisation Currently industry accounts for nearly two fifth of China s gross domestic product and since 2009 China has been the world's largest exporter of manufactured products. This book explores the question of how far this industrial growth has been the product of government policies. It discusses how government policies and their priorities have developed and evolved, examines how industrial policies are linked to policies in other areas such as trade, technology, and regional development, and assesses how new policy initiatives are encouraging China's increasing success in new technology-intensive industries. It also demonstrates how China's industrial policies are linked to development of industrial clusters and regions.

Yearbook of China's Foreign Economic Relations and Trade, 2002 Chinese Multinationals Jean-Paul

Larcon, 2009. This book examines the rise of Chinese companies in international markets during the last two decades of rapid expansion of the Chinese economy. The fruit of a collaboration between two leading business schools, HEC Paris and the School of Economics and Management of Tsinghua University, it provides a comprehensive overview of the strategies of Chinese multinationals in terms of international marketing and branding, MAs and international joint ventures, management of technology, organization, and human resource management, etc. The strategies of several well-known companies are described in detail, including Baosteel, Bird, Haier, Hisense, Huawei Technologies, Lenovo, Nuctech, Petrochina, TCL, Tsingtao Brewery, Wahaha, Wanxiang, etc.
