Biglow, Orville Luther Holley, 1817 Deep Learning Stellan Ohlsson, 2011-01-31 Although the ability to retain process and project prior experience onto future situations is indispensable the human mind also possesses the ability to override experience and adapt to changing circumstances Cognitive scientist Stellan Ohlsson analyzes three types of deep non monotonic cognitive change creative insight adaptation of cognitive skills by learning from errors and conversion from one belief to another incompatible belief For each topic Ohlsson summarizes past research re formulates the relevant research questions and proposes information processing mechanisms that answer those questions The three theories are based on the principles of redistribution of activation specialization of practical knowledge and re subsumption of declarative information Ohlsson develops the implications of those mechanisms by scaling their effects with respect to time complexity and social interaction The book ends with a unified theory of non monotonic cognitive change that captures the abstract properties that the three types of change share National Service and Volunteerism Thomas A. Bryer, 2014-12-11 National service and volunteerism enjoy a rich history in the United States and an emergent future in other parts of the world However there remains relatively scant evidence of overall impact of national service programs and volunteer effectiveness This condition continues to threaten national service and volunteer programs with the risk of defunding and or the risk of not investing sufficiently from the start This book brings together a selection of diverse chapters written by a combination of academicians students and practitioners from three countries and across multiple states in the United States Each chapter approaches its topic uniquely but links with all others in identifying the impacts of service and volunteerism for volunteers for beneficiaries of service for the institution of volunteering and or for whole communities The book is divided in five sections 1 developing volunteer initiatives to achieve impact 2 impact for and by youth volunteers 3 impact in social or policy areas specifically economy and financial success education and emergency response 4 international perspectives with focus on Chile Venezuela the United Kingdom and the post communist states of Lithuania and Romania and 5 conclusion with summary and suggestions for future research and practice
