English Local Prisons, 1860-1900 Sean McConville,Professor Sean Mcconville,2018-10-24 The local prisons of the latter half of the nineteenth century refined systems of punishment so harsh that one judge considered the maximum penalty of two years local imprisonment to be the most severe punishment known to English law next only to death This work examines how private perceptions and concerns became public policy It also traces the move in English government from the rural and aristocratic to the urban and more democratic It follows the rise of the powerful elite of the higher civil service describes some of the forces that attempted to oppose it and provides a window through which to view the process of state formation Prison Worlds Didier Fassin,2017-05-23 The prison is a recent invention hardly more than two centuries old yet it has become the universal system of punishment How can we understand the place that the correctional system occupies in contemporary societies What are the experiences of those who are incarcerated as well as those who work there To answer these questions Didier Fassin conducted a four year long study in a French short stay prison following inmates from their trial to their release He shows how the widespread use of imprisonment has reinforced social and racial inequalities and how advances in civil rights clash with the rationales and practices used to maintain security and order He also analyzes the concerns and compromises of the correctional staff the hardships and resistance of the inmates and the ways in which life on the inside intersects with life on the outside In the end the carceral condition appears to be irreducible to other forms of penalty both because of the chain of privations it entails and because of the experience of meaninglessness it comprises Examined through ethnographic lenses prison worlds are thus both a reflection of society and its mirror At a time when many countries have begun to realize the impasse of mass incarceration and question the consequences of the punitive turn this book will provide empirical and theoretical tools to reflect on the meaning of punishment in contemporary societies

With,Gerda Frederiksen Behrens,Dorothea Prall,1922 Down to This Shaughnessy Bishop-Stall,2010-06-04 For some young men climbing Everest or sailing solo into polar seas isn t the biggest risk in the world Instead it is venturing alone into the deepest urban jungle where human nature is the dangerous incomprehensible and sometimes wildly uplifting force that tests not only your ability to survive but also your own humanity One cold November day Shaughnessy Bishop Stall heads out on just such a quest He packs up a new tent some clothes his notebooks and a pen and goes to live in Tent City twenty seven lawless acres where the largest hobo town on the continent squats in the scandalized shadow of Canada s largest city The rules he sets for himself are simple no access to money family or friends except what he can find from that day on He ll do whatever people in Tent City do to get by be whatever bum wino beggar hustler criminal junkie or con man he chooses to be on any given day When he arrives he finds a dump full of the castaways of the last millennium human and otherwise On the edge of the world yet somehow smack in the middle of it all fugitives drug addicts prostitutes dealers and ex cons have created an anarchic society where the rules are made up nightly and your life depends on knowing them Not only does Bishop Stall manage to survive until the bulldozers come but against all odds his own heart and spirit slowly mend An astonishing account of birth suicide brawls binges tears crazed laughter good and bad intentions fiendish charity and the sudden eloquence and generosity of broken souls Down to This is Bishop Stall s iridescent love song to a lost city like no other
