Twentieth-Century British and American Theatre Christopher Innes, Katherine Carlstrom, Scott Fraser, 2019-05-23 First published in 1999 this volume aims to develop the field of theatre studies by promoting the study of performative elements and thus fostering their consideration in the critical interpretation of dramatic literature The authors additionally suggest ways of approaching and evaluating the work of individual performers as well as of directors designers and producers It is an archival guide which covers manuscript and ephemera rather than published texts and attempts to indicate the potential value of the documentary material listed This unique reference guide provides descriptions and evaluations of archive manuscript materials and ephemera relating to twentieth century British and American theatre Over 100 archives across Europe North America and Britain were examined in the compilation of this volume The documents include unpublished playscripts state and costume designs directors books prompt books lighting plots stage photos correspondence theatre programmes One hundred and seventy five entries are arranged alphabetically and cover playwrights directors designers and actors By its nature theatre is a collaborative enterprise a facet which is recognised in the comprehensive cross referencing of entries The last twenty years has seen a shift in drama studies from text based criticism to analysis of performance The materials covered in this book have therefore become essential to future research in the field Text & Presentation, 2017 Jay Malarcher, 2018-03-08 Presenting some of the best work from the 2017 Comparative Drama Conference at Rollins College in Winter Park Florida this collection highlights the latest research in comparative drama performance and dramatic textual analysis Contributors cover a broad range of topics from the practical ethnography of directing foreign language productions to writing for theoretical stages to the radical deaf theater of Aaron Sawyer s The Vineyard A full transcript of the keynote conversation with American playwright and screenwriter Lisa Loomer is included

August Strindberg and Visual Culture Jonathan Schroeder, Anna Westerstahl Stenport, Eszter Szalczer, 2018-09-20 August Strindberg and Visual Culture addresses the multiplicity of Strindberg s artistic and literary output The book charts the vital intersections between theatre aesthetic theory and visual elements in his work that have been left largely unexplored Rather than following traditional genre bound critical approaches this book focuses on the intermediality of individual works the corpus as a whole and their connections to a wide array of historical and contemporary artists writers photographers film theatre and museum practitioners The book is beautifully illustrated with many never before seen images from Strindberg s work and includes contributions from actress Liv Ullmann director Robert Wilson and curator and museum director Daniel Birnbaum Theatre Symposium, Vol. 27 Sarah McCarroll, 2019-10-08 A substantive exploration of bodies and embodiment in theatre Theatre is inescapably about bodies By definition theatre requires the live bodies of performers in the same space and at the same time as the live bodies of an audience And yet it s hard to talk about bodies We talk about characters we talk about actors we talk about costume and movement But we often approach these as identities or processes layered onto bodies rather than as inescapably entwined with them Bodies on the theatrical stage hold the power of transformation Theatre practitioners scholars and educators must think about what bodies go where onstage and what stories which bodies to tell The essays in Theatre Symposium Volume 27 explore a broad range of issues related to embodiment The volume begins with Rhonda Blair's keynote essay in which she provides an overview of the current cognitive science underpinning our understanding of what it means to be embodied and to talk about embodiment She also provides a set of goals and cautions for theatre artists engaging with the available science on embodiment while issuing a call for the absolute necessity for that engagement given the primacy of the body to the theatrical act The following three essays provide examinations of historical bodies in performance Timothy Pyles works to shift the common textual focus of Racinian scholarship to a more embodied understanding through his examination of the performances of the young female students of the Saint Cyr academy in two of Racine's Biblical plays Shifting forward in time by three centuries Travis Stern's exploration of the auratic celebrity of baseball player Mike Kelly uncovers the ways in which bodies may retain the ghosts of their former selves long after physical ability and wealth are gone Laurence D Smith's investigation of actress Manda Bj rling's performances in Miss Julie provides a model for how cognitive science in this case theories of cognitive blending can be integrated with archival theatrical research and scholarship From scholarship grounded in analysis of historical bodies and embodiment the volume shifts to pedagogical concerns Kaja Amado Dunn's essay on the ways in which careless selection of working texts can inflict embodied harm on students of color issues an imperative call for careful and intentional classroom practice in theatre training programs Cohen Ambrose's theorization of pedagogical cognitive ecologies in which subjects usually taught disparately acting theatre history costume design for example could be approached collaboratively and through embodiment speaks to ways in which this call might be answered Tessa Carr's essay on The Integration of Tuskegee High School brings together ideas of historical bodies and embodiment in the academic theatrical context through an examination of the process of creating a documentary theatre production The final piece in the volume Bridget Sundin's exchange with the ghost of Marlene Dietrich is an imaginative exploration of how it is possible to open the archive to create new spaces for performance scholarship via an interaction with the body
