

Introduction

In recent years there has been a broad awareness of animal suffering and animal rights, rights both civil and rights that keep people believe that we should give animals just rights to humans. Others view them as a fashionable means of food, as well as other related products.

Body paragraph #1

First of all, it seems clear for north intelligent people that animals deserve more rights than they have. Unfortunately some people think it because they are obviously not used to go with thoughts and feelings are if there are not really the same as our own. For example, it has been said that some animals - birds and dolphins - swim, they can just like humans do. They would display the signs of their pain, and wish that we would communicate with humans suffering. Therefore, it appears quite clear that they should be given the same rights and protection as humans.

Body paragraph #2

There are arguments against animal rights for animals point out that they do not have the ability of human feeling and speech but instead they have a lot of things and that the level of behavior is clearly normal within the natural world. It looks humans should not better animal rights upon their natural characteristics because our natural relationship is with the same as that of a wolf and a sheep. It should conclude for us that animals for our own benefit because that is the natural way of the world.

Conclusion

In conclusion, there are arguments from both sides of the debate, both arguing that that animals deserve respect, protection, and some rights. Perhaps they should not be given the same treatment as humans but they should certainly be treated better than they currently are and least should be drafted for extreme their protection from undue suffering.
