

Getting Started

Beginning a Four-Strand Project

- 1 Thread two strands of plastic tape through a looped hook and the hook is at the middle of the loop. To practice, start with 24-inch pieces. To start down with a piece of tape for the first stitch, remove tape after step 2.
- 2 Fold one end back.
- 3 Fold the end and over it.
- 4 Fold the third end over the second.
- 5 Fold the fourth end over the third and under the loop formed by the first fold.
- 6 Press the tape, and pull the ends tight.

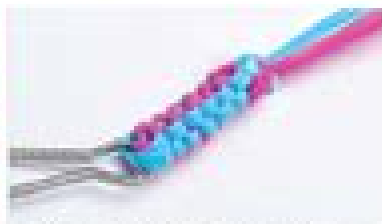

Here you can see the "four-strand" with the two ends taped down (step 6).

A regular knot will look like this before you tug (see step 10a).

When finishing a project, you will thread each strand up through the square formed by the knot (see step 12).

Your finished four-strand project will look something like this.

The Square Stitch

- 7a To make a square stitch, fold the first strand over itself.
- 8a Fold the other two ends over at a time, starting first with the second end.
- 9a Fold the third end.
- 10a Fold the fourth end, making sure to thread it under the loop formed by the first end.
- 11a Tighten. As you continue making square stitches, the knot pattern will appear.

Tighten. As you continue making square stitches, the knot pattern will appear.

The Round Stitch

- 7b To make a round stitch, fold the first strand over the opposite end at an angle.
- 8b Fold the adjacent strand over it again at an angle.
- 9b Fold the third end.
- 10b Fold the fourth end, making sure to thread it through the loop of the first strand.
- 11b Tighten the stitch as you pull from the first. Make the second and keep making it like the first as they first ... if it seems awkward, continue clockwise, the next clockwise direction, and then counterclockwise. As you continue making round stitches, the same pattern will appear.

Tighten the stitch as you pull from the first. Make the second and keep making it like the first as they first ... if it seems awkward, continue clockwise, the next clockwise direction, and then counterclockwise. As you continue making round stitches, the same pattern will appear.

Finishing

- 12 To finish your project, make a final square stitch and knot it twice. Run strand A under strand B and up through the center. Run strand B under C and up through the center. Continue with C and D as strands are together in the center. Now pull tight, and trim off the ends at the desired length.
