Department of State. Office of International Conferences, 1953 Proceedings of the 8th International Symposium on Insect-Plant Relationships Steph B.J. Menken, J.H. Visser, Paul Harrewijn, 2012-12-06 The papers in this book are organized as follows insect plant communities host plant selection genetics and evolution host plant resistance and application of transgenic plants and multitrophic interactions Besides seven invited papers and a paper with concluding remarks this volume also contains the short communications of all 115 oral presentations and posters Included too are the summaries of four European Science Foundation workshops held over the past two years where European scientists discussed the state of the art and the future of major topics in insect plant interactions in order to develop better integrated research programs The field of insect plant interactions nowadays includes almost all of biology as well as parts of chemistry and physics It takes a central position in biology because insects are the most abundant animal group half of them are herbivores and they dominate all terrestrial ecosystems Knowledge of insect plant interactions is thus fundamental to an understanding of the evolution of life on Earth Two major topics of worldwide concern give this field an extra dimension First large amounts of food crops are still lost due to insect pests With the increasing concern for environmental pollution and the subsequent plans to drastically reduce pesticides integrated pest management and development of resistant crops become a major focus in agriculture The importance of the study of insect plant relationships is thus continuously augmented Clearly successful pest control demands sufficient fundamental knowledge of pest host interactions Second such work can contribute towards stopping or even counterbalancing the threatening biodiversity crisis thanks to an understanding of how the interaction of insects and plants has influenced and still influences the diversification and speciation evolution of both groups These problems should of course be approached at a multitrophic level List of Official International Conferences and Meetings United States. Future Biotechnology Research on the International Space Station National Research Council, Commission on Physical Sciences, Mathematics, and Applications, Space Studies Board, Task Group for the Evaluation of NASA's Biotechnology Facility for the International Space Station, 2000-04-14 Under current NASA plans investigations in the area of biotechnology will be a significant component of the life sciences research to be conducted on the International Space Station ISS They encompass work on cell science and studies of the use of microgravity to grow high quality protein crystals Both these subdisciplines are advancing rapidly in terrestrial laboratories fueled by federal and industrial research budgets that dwarf those of NASA's life science program Forging strong and fruitful connections between the space investigations and laboratory bench biologists a continual challenge for NASA's life sciences program is thus of great importance to ensuring the excellence of ISS research This report evaluates the plan for NASA's biotechnology facility on the ISS and the scientific context that surrounds it and makes recommendations on how the facility can be made more effective In addition to questions about optimizing the instrumentation the report addresses strategies for enhancing the scientific impact and improving the outreach to mainstream terrestrial biology No major redirection of effort is called for but collectively the specific targeted changes recommended by the task group would have a major effect on the conduct of biotechnology
