Grade 7 Reading Comprehension Worksheet

The Lazy Tour of Two Idle Apprentices

Chapter One

By Charles Dickens

Read the passage. Then answer the questions.

In the autumn month of September, two idle apprentices, exhausted by the long, hot summer, and the long work it had brought with it, ran away from their employer. They were bound to a highly meritorious lady (named Literature), of fair credit and repute. The misguided young men who thus shirked their duty to the mistress from whom they had received many favours, were actuated by the low idea of making a perfectly idle trip, in any direction.

They had no intention of going anywhere in particular; they wanted to see nothing, they wanted to know nothing, they wanted to learn nothing, they wanted to do nothing. They wanted only to be idle. They took to themselves the names of Mr. Thomas Idle and Mr. Francis Goodchild; and they were both idle in the last degree. Between Francis and Thomas, however, there was this difference of character: Goodchild was laboriously idle, and would take upon himself any amount of pains and labour to assure him that he was idle. Thomas Idle, on the other hand, was an idler of the unmingled Irish type; a passive idler, a born-and-bred idler, who practised what he would have preached if he had not been too idle to preach.

The two idle apprentices found themselves, within a few hours of their escape, walking down into the North of England; Thomas was lying in a meadow, looking at the railway trains as they passed. These two had sent their personal baggage on by train: only retaining each a knapsack.

Was it to see the country? If that was the object, look at it out of the carriage windows. They came back and said they did, but they didn't. It was the fifth from London, so far had they penetrated into the North. Submitting to the powerful chain of argument, Goodchild proposed a return to the Metropolis, and a falling back upon Euston Square Terminus. Thomas assented with alacrity, and so they walked down into the North by the next morning's express, and carried their knapsacks in the luggage-van.

Answer the questions.

- 1. What is the lesson that the writer wants you to understand from this story?
- 2. What is the main idea of the passage?
- 3. Underline the five sentences that help you know the main idea.
