

The 2014 CED test series consists of five subject-area tests: Reading, Writing, Math, Science, and Social Studies. The entire test takes a little more than seven hours to complete. Though originally a paper-and-pencil test, it has been making the transition to computer. By the end of 2013, most states are slated to offer this test on computer at authorized CED testing centers. This paves the way for the new computer-based assessment to be released in January 2014.

The CED test (credential) is not a diploma. It is a standard measure of skills used by state jurisdictions to issue a high school equivalency credential. This distinction is important because the new 2014 CED test will not be the only high school equivalency assessment. Several states may create and/or offer other assessments in addition to the CED test. Two such alternative tests are the Test Assessing Secondary Completion (TASC) from McGraw-Hill and the High School Equivalency Test (HSET) from ETS.

Forthcoming national assessments and curricula will likely reference the Common Core State Standards (CCSS) as a common language. To date, 45 states, the District of Columbia, four territories, and the Department of Defense Education Activity have adopted the math and language arts standards which were developed for use with K-12 students.

The 2014 Test

In response to the movement toward the CCSS and the development of college- and career-readiness standards, ACE began to rethink the purpose and development of the CED test. In 2011, ACE joined with Pearson VUE® to create the new CED Testing Service, LLC. With an eye toward the future, CEDTS began work on the new 2014 CED Test series which will debut on January 2, 2014.

Note: Check the CEDTS website regularly for updated information on all the following topics.

Test Development

Following are some of the changes that guided CEDTS in developing the new test.

Standards-based: CEDTS wanted the assessment to measure the knowledge and skills adults need to be successful in careers and in postsecondary education. To that end, they relied on widely accepted standards when developing the assessment targets. The assessment targets describe the skills and knowledge that the CED test measures. The Common Core State Standards (CCSS), College and Career Readiness (CCR) anchor standards, Texas College and Career Readiness Standards, Virginia Standards of Learning, The National Research Council's
