How to Think Impossibly Jeffrey J. Kripal, 2024-07-26 A mind bending invitation to experience the impossible as fundamentally human From precognitive dreams and telepathic visions to near death experiences UFO encounters and beyond so called impossible phenomena are not supposed to happen But they do happen all the time Jeffrey J Kripal asserts that the impossible is a function not of reality but of our everchanging assumptions about what is real How to Think Impossibly invites us to think about these fantastic yet commonplace experiences as an essential part of being human expressive of a deeply shared reality that is neither mental nor material but gives rise to both Thinking with specific individuals and their extraordinary experiences in vulnerable open and often humorous ways Kripal interweaves humanistic and scientific inquiry to foster an awareness that the fantastic is real the supernatural is super natural and the impossible is possible

Northwest Medicine ,1914 Shurat Legends, Ibadi Identities Adam R. Gaiser, 2016-10-15 An analysis of a variety of early Islamic texts to understand processes of identity formation and community In Shurat Legends Ibadi Identities Adam Gaiser explores the origins and early development of Islamic notions of martyrdom and of martyrdom literature He examines the catalogs or lists of martyrs martyrologies of the early shur t Kh rijites in the context of late antiquity showing that shur t literature as it can be reconstructed shares continuity with the martyrologies of earlier Christians and other religious groups especially in Iraq and that this powerful literature was transmitted by seventh century shur t through their successors the Ib iyya Gaiser examines the sources of poems and narratives as quasi historical accounts and their application in literary creations designed to meet particular communal needs in particular the need to establish and shape identity Gaiser shows how these accounts accumulated traits such as all night prayer vigils stoic acceptance of death and miracles of a wider ascetic and apocalyptic literature in the eighth century including martyrdom narratives of Eastern Christianity By establishing focal points of piety around which a communal identity could be fashioned such accounts proved suitable for use in missionary activity in North Africa and the Arabian Peninsula Gaiser also documents the reshaping of these narratives for more quietist purposes emphasizing moderated rather than violent action diplomacy and respect for other Islamic sects as also being monotheistic rather than condemning them as sinful Along with refashioning narratives Gaiser details the Ib efforts to compile collections into genealogies both biographical dictionaries and lineages of the true faith linking individuals and communities to local saints and martyrs He also shows how this more nuanced history led to the formation of rules and authorities governing the shur t Employing rarely examined manuscript materials to shed light on such processes as identity formation and communal boundary maintenance Gaiser traces the course by which this martyrdom literature and its potentially dangerous implications came to be institutionalized contained and controlled
