Managerial Accounting and Cost Concepts

Questions

1-1 The three major types of product costs in a manufacturing company are direct materials, direct labor, and manufacturing overhead.

1-2

a. Direct materials are an integral part of a finished product and their costs can be conveniently traced to it.

b. Indirect materials are generally small items of material such as glue and nails. They may be an integral part of a finished product but their costs can be traced to the product only at great cost or inconvenience.

c. Direct labor consists of labor costs that can be easily traced to particular products. Direct labor is also called "touch labor."

d. Indirect labor consists of the labor costs of janitors, supervisors, materials handlers, and other factory workers that cannot be conveniently traced to particular products. These labor costs are incurred to support production, but the workers involved do not directly work on the product.

e. Manufacturing overhead includes all manufacturing costs except direct materials and direct labor. Consequently, manufacturing overhead includes indirect materials and indirect labor as well as other manufacturing costs.

1-3 A product cost is any cost involved in purchasing or manufacturing goods. In the case of manufactured goods, these costs consist of direct materials, direct labor, and manufacturing overhead. A period cost is a cost that is taken directly to the income statement as an expense in the period in which it is incurred.

- a. Variable cost: The variable cost per unit is constant, but total variable cost changes in direct proportion to changes in volume.
- b. Fixed cost: The total fixed cost is constant within the relevant range. The average fixed cost per unit varies inversely with changes in volume.
- c. Mixed cost: A mixed cost contains both variable and fixed cost elements.

1-5

- a. Unit fixed costs decrease as the activity level increases.
- b. Unit variable costs remain constant as the activity level increases.
- c. Total fixed costs remain constant as the activity level increases.
- d. Total variable costs increase as the activity level increases.

1-6

- a. Cost behavior: Cost behavior refers to the way in which costs change in response to changes in a measure of activity such as sales volume, production volume, or orders processed.
- b. Relevant range: The relevant range is the range of activity within which assumptions about variable and fixed cost behavior are valid.

An activity base is a measure of whatever causes the incurrence of a variable cost. Examples of activity bases include units produced, units sold, letters typed, beds in a hospital, meals served in a cafe, service calls made, etc.

The linear assumption is reasonably valid providing that the cost formula is used only within the relevant range.

In Whose Backyard Whose Risk environmental lawyer professor and commentator Michael B Gerrard tackles the thorny issue of how and where to dispose of hazardous and radioactive waste. In Whose Backyard Whose Risk environmental lawyer professor and commentator Michael B Gerrard tackles the thorny issue of how and where to dispose of hazardous and radioactive waste. Gerrard who has represented dozens of municipalities and community groups that have fought landfills and incinerators as well as companies seeking permits clearly and succinctly analyzes a problem that has generated a tremendous amount of political conflict emotional anguish and transaction costs. He proposes a new system of waste disposal that involves local control state responsibility and national allocation to deal comprehensively with multiple waste streams. Gerrard draws on the literature of law economics political science and other disciplines to analyze the domestic and international origins of wastes and their disposal patterns. Based on a study of the many failures and few successes of past siting efforts he identifies the mistaken assumptions and policy blunders that have helped doom siting efforts. Gerrard first describes the different kinds of nonradioactive and radioactive wastes and how each is generated and disposed of. He explains historical and current siting decisions and considers the effects of the current mechanisms for making those decisions including the hidden economics and psychology of the siting process A typology of permit rules reveals the divergence between what underlies most siting disputes and what environmental laws actually protect Gerrard then looks at proposals for dealing with the siting dilemma and examines the successes and failures of each He outlines a new alternative for facility siting that combines a political solution and a legal framework for implementation A hypothetical example of how a siting decision might be made in a particular case is presented in an epilogue
