Advanced topics are presented with sufficient conceptual depth and examples to explain the use of recent statistical techniques and to demonstrate what conclusions can be drawn at the right time using modeling in life science research

Key features

- Explains the derivation of statistical models to prove disease transmission using massive real world datasets to explore practical applicability
- Incorporates the application of innovative advanced statistical and epidemiological models and demonstrates the possible solutions for public health policy intervention
- Helps to understand the process of hypothesis testing in small or larger observations by using weighted parameters
- Presents suitable examples and real life research datasets and all models can easily be followed in formulating statistical and mathematical derivations and key points
- Includes machine learning ML statistical methods for meta analysis testing of hypotheses methods of imputation estimation techniques probability distributions univariate analysis and recent nonparametric methods all illustrated through actual data

This textbook is for students and scholars of various courses in life sciences medicine mathematics and statistical science It will also help academicians and researchers to understand the foundation of this topic

General Practice Kerry N. Phelps, Craig Hassed, 2011 The aim of the book is to provide a comprehensive General Practice text book which takes a contemporary integrative approach to diagnosis investigation and management of health issues and disease states encountered in the general practice environment The book will cover the philosophy underpinning general practice in the 21st Century and deal with primary and secondary prevention as well as acute and chronic disease management General Practice The Integrative Approach will inform doctors as fully as possible about potential treatment and prevention options as well as potential pitfalls according to the growing evidence base in this area The book is directed at best practice rather than alternative practice The first section of the textbook lays the foundations and principles of Integrative Medicine and the second section examines important medical conditions in a systems based approach Each chapter begins by detailing the allopathic medical and consulting knowledge required of a standard GP text discussing physiology and pharmacological management plans of systems based conditions The chapter then leads into an evidence based discussion of the therapeutic options available for the treatment of associated factors essentially providing practitioners with the knowledge required to adapt their approach to meet the needs of the individual patient A national panel of experts with experience in Chinese medicine herbal medicine nutritional medicine naturopathy and exercise therapy have contributed to their various fields of expertise to incorporate management plans that utilise a variety of therapeutic modalities to achieve the best clinical outcome incorporates evidence based and safe therapies including conventional medical care lifestyle interventions and complementary therapies is directed at best practice rather than alternative practice focuses on prevention and health promotion a symptomatic layout matching the approach of contemporary medical curriculum each therapeutic modality and therapeutics contributor is coded with an icon for easy modality reference a unique chapter covering medico legal issues a ready reference herb drug interaction chart expert authors include Dr Kerry Phelps well known Australian medical practitioner and President of the Australasian Integrative Medicine Association AIMA MCSE NT Workstation 4 Exam Cram Ed Tittel, Kurt Hudson, James Michael Stewart, 2000 Two complete and revised practice exams complete with fully explained answers assess the reader's readiness to take the test This guide also includes warnings on trick questions time saving study tips multi part question strategies and a memory jogging cram sheet Practical Clinical Research Design and Application Peter D. Fabricant, 2024 Every practicing physician surgeon advanced practice provider and allied health professional interacts regularly with peer reviewed literature either while creating it or consuming it Despite the countless hours over many years spent in formal clinical training many clinicians and clinician authors lack advanced training or a working nuanced knowledge of research methodology and study design Institutions have responded to this gap by reinforcing their ranks with statistical and methodological support in the form of data analysts epidemiologists and biostatisticians However clinicians are often unable to talk the methodological talk to guide them This ultimately results in a stark disconnect between clinically relevant aspects of research and appropriate study design Existing research methodology texts are largely written by statisticians epidemiologists and other academic public health experts These are not easily digestible by practicing clinicians who need practical knowledge of this content to design their own research or enhance their understanding of the medical literature Furthermore these texts are often too detailed or in the weeds with regard to mathematics and statistical mechanics Practical knowledge is not centrally located rather it is spread out among multiple books articles and other sources This book is a concise accessible and practical guide for clinicians to read and reference when designing and reviewing clinical research It is designed to be a standalone text written by a clinician for clinicians by a practicing clinical research expert who has had advanced formal training in research methodology biostatistics and epidemiology Topics covered include descriptive and comparative statistics power and sample size calculations diagnostic tests bias and study design In each chapter consideration is given to study mechanics advantages and disadvantages of each design and illustrative analytical reviews of existing literature
