Backpack Ambassadors Richard Ivan Jobs, 2017-05-23

Even today in an era of cheap travel and constant connection the image of young people backpacking across Europe remains seductively romantic In Backpack Ambassadors Richard Ivan Jobs tells the story of backpacking in Europe in its heyday the decades after World War II revealing that these footloose young people were doing more than just exploring for themselves Rather with each step each border crossing each friendship they were quietly helping knit the continent together From the Berlin Wall to the beaches of Spain the Spanish Steps in Rome to the Pudding Shop in Istanbul Jobs tells the stories of backpackers whose personal desire for freedom of movement brought the people and places of Europe into ever closer contact As greater and greater numbers of young people trekked around the continent and a truly international youth culture began to emerge the result was a Europe that even in the midst of Cold War tensions found its people more and more connected their lives more and more integrated Drawing on archival work in eight countries and five languages and featuring trenchant commentary on the relevance of this period for contemporary concerns about borders and migration Backpack Ambassadors brilliantly recreates a movement that was far more influential and important than its footsore travelers could ever have realized Catalog of Copyright Entries, Third Series Library of Congress.
